Movie Notes

Benjamin "The Slipstick" Pollard, Walter Foy, and Lamonda, a quartet of merry Hollywood comedians, are appearing in person at the Oriental Theater.

Benjamin was the comedy star of the town and has spent the greater portion of his life showing the real world how to laugh. He was followed in his comedy roles by Mark Bennett and W. H. W. Hill, and in his latest part he will be seen in "You Take It or Leave It," the role of the lawyer.

On the screen the men dispense with different colored wigs, and the audience seems to enjoy them. A fine piece of acting was done by Richard Arlen, Billy Ireland, and Leslie Howard.

A powerful device of the current coast of the South is seen, in the Oriental Theater, in the picture "The Champion" as directed by J. B. Gilpin.

British historian and biographer, Charles Lever, has written a novel called "The Champion," which is set in the days of the Crusades.

The University of Southern California, a private institution, was founded by a Catholic, a Jew, and an Armenian.
