How to convince
Mom and Dad to buy you a pre-paid Trailways ticket home.

Dear Mom and Dad,

I enjoy being home and don't want to miss an opportunity to spend some time with you and Dad. I've been thinking about ways to convince you to buy me a pre-paid Trailways ticket. Here are some ideas that I hope will make you consider this option:

1. Reliable Transportation: Trailways offers a convenient and reliable mode of transportation. Having a pre-paid ticket means you don't have to worry about booking a ride at the last minute or finding a seat on the bus.

2. Flexibility: With a pre-paid ticket, you can choose your travel dates and times, which gives you more flexibility in planning your visits home.

3. Cost-Effective: Buying a pre-paid ticket can be more cost-effective in the long run. You can save money by purchasing a ticket in advance, especially during peak travel times.

4. Convenience: With pre-paid tickets, you can avoid the hassle of finding seats on the bus and the stress of negotiating fares. You can simply show your ticket and board the bus at any point along the route.

5. Safety: Traveling by bus is a safe and secure way to travel home. Trailways provides a comfortable and secure environment for your trip.

I hope these ideas help convince you to buy me a pre-paid Trailways ticket. I look forward to spending time with you and Dad soon.

Love,

Campus Life's Better, But...

The student newspaper at the University of California, Berkeley, has decided to change the name of the student newspaper to "The Daily" after a student newspaper failed to gain enough support from the student body. The new name was chosen after a poll of students was conducted, and "The Daily" was the clear favorite. The change will take effect next semester.

IIT/V: Often an Embarrassment

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my concern about the current format of the IIT/V newsletter. As a student who has been involved with the organization for several years, I feel that the newsletter has become increasingly out of touch with the needs and interests of the student body. The content is often outdated and fails to reflect the diversity of opinions and experiences within the organization. I believe that the newsletter should focus more on providing valuable and timely information to students, rather than serving as a platform for internal debates and discussions. I hope that the organization will consider implementing changes to improve the quality and relevance of the newsletter.

Creativity in Music Lacking

To the Editor:

As a music student, I find it concerning that the music department appears to lack creativity in its programming and events. The music department's offerings seem to focus on traditional classical music and have not showcased a diverse range of contemporary music styles. I believe that the department should look to incorporate more innovative and creative elements into its repertoire, such as avant-garde and experimental music. By doing so, we can attract a wider audience and foster a more dynamic and engaging music scene on campus.

Thanks, IIT

To the Editor:

I would like to express my gratitude to the IIT administration for providing me with the opportunity to participate in the recent campus-wide clean-up day. The efforts of the IIT administration and the community have made a significant impact on the cleanliness and appearance of the campus. I appreciate the hard work and dedication of everyone involved in this initiative. It is heartening to see the positive changes that have been brought about.

letters policy

The letters section of the newspaper welcomes contributions from students, staff, and faculty members. Submissions should be relevant to campus life and should be submitted through the online submission form available on the newspaper's website. Submissions should be no more than 500 words and should be submitted in a word processor document. The newspaper reserves the right to edit submissions for clarity and brevity.
A Quality Education? ... Not At IIT

To the Editor:

While browsing the internet, I found a site that appeared to be a student blog from IIT. The post was quite interesting, as it highlighted some of the challenges faced by students at IIT. One of the main concerns mentioned was the high cost of living and the lack of resources available to students. Additionally, the blog post discussed the need for more diverse faculty members and better representation of women and minority groups in the curriculum.

I think it's important for prospective students and their families to be aware of these issues, as they can significantly impact the overall educational experience. It's also encouraging to see that students are speaking out and advocating for change.

Sincerely,

Counseling Center Helps

I had the pleasure of visiting the Counseling Center last week, and I must say, I was thoroughly impressed. The staff there is incredibly knowledgeable and supportive. They provided me with valuable advice on how to manage my stress and cope with the challenges of college life.

I highly recommend the Counseling Center to anyone struggling with mental health issues. They offer a range of services, including individual and group therapy, as well as resources for students with disabilities.

Only China

As a Chinese citizen, I fully support the decision to withdraw from the Paris Agreement. China is a rising superpower and must take the lead in addressing global issues. The US is not the only country that can contribute to solving these problems. I believe China, under the leadership of President Xi Jinping, will continue to play a crucial role in shaping the world's future.

No Comic Book "Heroes" Here

WHEN first-year students are in their first week on the job as an editorial writers, Jack Stein and I am sure that Jack Stein is the kind of writer that will make me laugh at least every page 6 1/2 times a week. I usually find myself laughing at least once for every page, but that's probably because I am a lazy student and Jack Stein is a lazy student.

Jack Stein and I are both in our first year of college and we are both lazy. Jack Stein is a lazy writer and I am a lazy student. We both enjoy lazy activities like sleeping in class, procrastinating, and avoiding any work that requires effort.

WINKLER'S LIFE IS CENTERED ON ACTING

For Barry Winkler, love means "Happy Days," starring Ron Howard and Henry Winkler. By one means or another, Winkler has become a member of the "Happy Days" family, although he is probably not married. Winkler's introduction to acting is to be played in college, starring in "The Happy Days of College." Winkler has been a member of the "Happy Days of College" team, and has been doing it for some time now. He enjoys the creative aspects of acting and the freedom to be himself. In his role as "Happy Days," Winkler says, "I have no boundaries. I can do what I want." Winkler is not married, but he says, "I am certainly in love." Winkler is looking forward to his new movie, "Happy Days," which is scheduled for release next month. "It's a great movie," he says. "I can't wait to see it."
