Stryker awards

At IIT people do receive recognition and gratitude for the extra things that make life more interesting at IIT. The Citrus District Superintend- enclosed Service Award does just that.

This year’s award was established to recognize and honor students who have made a contribution to a core group IIT. The names of 25 IIT students to be honored, this year have just been announced. This year’s honorees are:

Over the years, Clinton E. Stryker established an endowment to encourage student activities. In 1975 the funds were used to recognize outstanding IIT students.

To be eligible to receive this award one must be a full-time IIT graduate or undergra-

Ethics Center grant

The Center for the Study of Ethics in the Professions has received a grant of $35,000 from the Hitachi Foundation to develop and implement a project on "Professional Responsibility at the Interface of Engineering and Management.”

The two-year project, beginning in June 1988, will be carried out by a team consisting of Vivian Weigl, Director, Michael Davis, Editor, and Tom Celere of IIT; Robert Growney, Corporate Vice President and General Manager of the Radio Technologies Group at Motorola, Robert Krueger, Executive Director of the Center for Ethics, and Corporate Policy, Chicago, Lawrence Lavengood, Professor of Accounting, Northwestern University, and Elliot Leman, Co-chair of the IIT Policy Council.

The purpose is to correct deficiencies in business and government decision-making that result from failure to mesh input from engineers and managers. The project seeks to remedy the present lack of meaningful multidisciplinary programs dealing with the division between engineering judgment and management decision. The product will be teaching materials and programs designed and tested for use by companies and in the academic classroom.

Equipment Update
A big thanks goes out to the person who did an excellent job of fixing our developer. But our demonic typesetter decided to let us use 8
inch paper this week and thus we had trouble printing anything wider than 3 inches (notice our headlines). Oh yeah,
somehow a pigeon got into the Tech News office
this week and took a dump on what we originally intended to be
our front page picture.
Tune in again next week for another edition of Tech News

BUILD
A CAREER
IN THE CLOUDS.

Learn how to fly
helicopters in the U.S.
Army. Not only could it be one of the greatest experiences of your life,
but it could be the start of
an exciting career.
The Army's Warrant Officer Candidate Flight
Training Program makes it
all possible. To qualify,
you'll need a high school diploma and, preferably,
at least 2 years of college.
Before you learn to fly,
you'll need to complete
Army basic training and pre-flight training.

A tribute to Rosalene McKinley

Rosalene McKinley, IIT's jovial and effective postal director, whose death took from us a friend and colleague, left this life as she typically lived it: in an active, upbeat manner. She indeed contributed to the totality of overseeing the Institute's huge volume of mail. She had a quick, direct manner, and daily, did not exhaust her interest and energy. In her honor, I would like to take this opportunity to write about her leading role in Dearborn Homes Residents' Council in a constant effort to improve the life of the community. Her indefatigable spirit was backed up by her quick wit and humor whenever push came to shove in the politics of Chicago. I have always been impressed by the community currently has experienced a renewed vitality and raised the quality of life for those hundreds of families, in no small part owing to Rosalene's determined commitment. It will be a simple task to find a successor.

At the funeral, while a solo voice intoned a spiritual, her family and friends expressed their deep loss and grief with a quiet dignity that was hard to convey. The eminent mime artist, Marcel Marceau, put it as well: "The greater the love we feel for a friend, the greater are the moments of our lives find us all without words: Rosalene understood.

A letter to the editor, Tech News:

I much enjoyed your talk with your reporter Robert Huston and appreciate his kind article in the April 1 Tech News. I am afraid, though, he suggests I claim more for IIT than is appropriate. I believe IIT has accomplished a great deal in building a vibrant, multicultural and multicultural community and in encouraging students to be involved in leadership activities. Many people have contributed greatly over the years to these areas, though, and I can scarcely claim them as my own achievements. They are the work of a community, and so I have tried to put some of my feelings in my letter. In that regard, the remarks were addressed to the community at large, and I should be happy to see your running them. A copy is enclosed.

Sincerely yours,
James V. Wise
Dean of Student Life

A new presidential platform

My name is James Kriazes and I am your Student Government President. I am writing to address the concerns of the students for the 88-89 school year. I would like to take this opportunity to express some of the accomplishments of my administration this past year.

The entire infrastructure of Student Government has been examined and is in the process of improvement. Many improvements have been made in the form of new guidelines. In addition, the student body has been informed through a new newsletter, "IIT's Connections," and a new website at http://www.iit.edu. The newsletter is circulated biweekly to all students, and the website is updated regularly with information on upcoming events and student issues.

I would like to thank all the students for their support and participation in these initiatives. I hope to continue to work with you in the upcoming school year to make IIT a better place for everyone.

Sincerely yours,
James Kriazes
Student Government President

A candidate for SG vice-president

My name is Michelle R. Kochan, and I am a candidate for Vice President of Student Government.

I want to be Vice President of SG and to represent SG students. It is a particularly exciting time to be involved with student government. The new administration is especially interested in working with students, and welcomes student input on current and future issues. I strongly believe in the importance of having a strong Student Government, and I would like to bring the SG community together to address these issues in a more effective manner.

I would like to address some of the current issues facing SG. First, I believe that we should work on increasing the level of communication between SG and the Student Body. This would be accomplished through regular meetings with SG, as well as a new SG newsletter. Second, I think that we need to work on improving the SG budget, so that we can better fund our initiatives. This would be accomplished through a more efficient budgeting process, as well as a new SG budget committee.

I believe that I have the experience and skills necessary to be an effective Vice President of SG. I have been an active member of SG for three years, and have served as the SG treasurer for two years. I have also been an active member of the Student Senate, and have served as the Student Senate president for one year.

I hope that you will consider me for the position of Vice President of SG. I am confident that I can make a difference in the life of IIT, and I would be honored to work with you to achieve this goal.

Sincerely yours,
Michelle R. Kochan
Candidate for SG Vice President
Announcements

Mac Users Group
The IIT Macintosh Users Group (IITMUG) will be meeting next Thursday, April 21, at 7:30pm in room 102 Stuart Building. The group will be discussing new software, as well as possible future speakers. If you have not received your invitation, contact the Coordinator (Miquel Atch) or x1314. There will be a meeting on Thursday 4/23.

Life Banquet
Life will hold its annual installation and awards banquet on Monday, April 25, in the Hub Mezzanine from 10am to 5pm. To make it a little more interesting, ICO and IIT have challenged each other to see which campus can get the highest percentage of donors to donate. The group of organization from the winning school with the highest number of donors will win a pizza and beverage party. Contact Craig at x706 for more information.

IEEE
Or Melih Pazarli will be speaking on Tuesday, April 26, at 12:30pm in the Hub Auditorium. Showtimes are: Thursdays at 5:15pm and Saturdays at 7:30pm. The band in the Bog this week is Straight Southern. The concert starts at 8pm on Thursday.

Chemistry
On Wednesday, April 20, at 7:30pm Professor Robert Carr of the University of Minnesota Department of Chemical Engineering and Materials Science will speak on "Continuous Reaction Chromatography in a Countercurrent Moving Bed: An Experimental Investigation" in room 108 Pershing.

Graduating Tau Bates
If you did not attend last Tuesday's Tau Beta Pi meeting in room 101, you missed a lot of new members being introduced to the society. Come on out and attend this important meeting if you are interested in attending. Attendees will be needed in the near future. Contact any of the officers.

AV
The Herrmann Hall Audio-Visual Department rents VCRs at low student rates for nightly and weekend rentals. If you are abroad and there is nothing interesting on television, why not rent a VCR and watch your favorite movie? For more information call x3075 or x3076.

Promote
Does your group have the need to promote their activities? If so, the Audio-Visual Department can help. The Department rents a butcher mask that will allow you to make buttons for your use. For more information and price guidelines, contact x3075 or x3080.

Camping
Feeling like a weekend in the great outdoors but without the equipment? The Rec Center can help you out with all your camping needs. Call x3079 or x3075 for pricing information.

Nroct Drive
On April 19 & 20 the NROCT is having a registration for a blood drive to be held at a later date. So please sign up and donate a pint of this very needed resource. Please give the gift of life and some day this ten minutes of your time may pay back a hundredfold.

Guns n' Roses

by Robert Huxton

The most common genres of rock music are romanticism and escapism. Both stress happiness, aestheticism, and optimism. But any wise person would agree that when we face the choice of whether to be optimistic or pessimistic, often the best choice is to be realistic. Realism is the attitude taken up by a new hard rock/metal band called Guns n' Roses on their first album, "Appetite for Destruction" (Geffen Records).

Guns n' Roses is a band out of L.A. that formed in 1966 out of the merger of two bands, L.A. Guns and Hollywood Rose. Until the band came out with their album they spent their time playing in clubs and pubs (by no choice of their own) with winos and drug addicts. Singing lead vocals for the band is W. Axl Rose, playing lead guitar is Slash and also Izzy Stradlin, Duff McKagan is on bass, and Steven Adler plays drums.

The first song on side G, that's "Guns" side, is "Welcome to the Jungle." The song starts with a guitar intro that is so unique and powerful you're mesmerized while listening to it. The rest of the song is a masterpiece of songwriting genius and "Welcome to the Jungle" gives an introduction to the message of the rest of the album. Lyrics such as "You know where you are? You're in the jungle baby! You're gonna die!" melodically throw cold water in your face.

The next track is "It's So Easy," which is about the criterion of fitness of what it takes to please. In this song Axl Rose's voice is clear and strong, and the rhythm section is driving. "Night Train" follows and is a song whose meaning you can infer from these lyrics: "Loaded like a freight train/Flies like an aeroplane/Feels like a space train/One more tonight/I'm on the night train/Bottoms up."

"Out to Get Me" is a tune about hiding out and laying low from the cops while proclaiming innocence. The next song is "Mr. Brownstone," a song that gives, incredibly as it may sound, sentiment. The lead and bass guitars along with Axl Rose's low voice create an aura of feeling and sensibility. Rose sings about dancing with Mr. Brownstone. Mr. Brownstone is heroin. The chorus says "We've been dancing with Mr. Brownstone/He's been knockin'/He won't leave me alone." Axl Rose sings very fast in a representation the long term problem with dancing with Mr. Brownstone when he sings "I used to do a little but I used to do it a little too much/So little got more and more/Realize this is a progressive and escapism demands that we must have the ability to see beyond the present to survive."

The next and final track on side G is "Paradise City" which relates the dream of a person who is poor and living in a polluted city as Axl Rose sings "Take me down to the paradise city/Where the grass is green and the girls are pretty/Oh won't you please take me home." The song can be an anthem for those in hardship.

The B side, or Roses side, is a somewhat different theme than the first four tracks. The Rose songs are real love songs, not the Top 40 affectations that the many great rock bands write.

"My Michelle" is about a girlfriend whose father works in porno and whose mother is underground from loving her heroin. This woman Axl Rose sings about shows a lecherous lifestyle for the ladies and for the sake that someone might fall in love with her.

"Think About You" is a sincere song about being in love with someone. The acoustic guitar work in the background makes this song irresistible catchy. "Sweet Child O' Mine" is a love song about the euphoria sweet love gives but, when we would want the song to end, instead of fading away the melody changes and eventually tends in a chorus saying "Where do we go? Where do we go? Where do we go? Where do we go? What if we do?"

I.F. Pageant results

On Friday, April 8th at 7 p.m., seven fraternities and sororities performed their 15-minute skits in the HUB auditorium. Tau Epsilon Phi took first place with their version of The Wizard of Oz. Kappa Kappa Psi took second place by half a point. They depicted Dorothy and Toto from the University of Kansas meeting in the woods, where they ran into a bear, who was actually a bear. The skit was a humorous take on the classic tale of the Kansas girl who followed the yellow brick road to find her way home.

Congratulations to all the participants for making I.P. Pageant a great success.

Alpha Sigma Phi Celebration

Attention to the Student Body and Faculty: On Monday, April 10th at 8:00 p.m., Alpha Sigma Phi will be conducting one of its oldest traditions dating back to 1845. This event is being performed to celebrate our 50th anniversary at IIT, the birth of a new chapter at IIT, and the memory of deceased brothers. The Alpha Sigma Phi Alumni and Brothers of other Alpha Sigma Phi Chapters will be in attendance. All are welcome to attend and watch the ceremony. We would greatly appreciate your cooperation in making this ceremony a great success.

Politics

Focusing on page 1, following Karger's remarks, a lively question and answer session focused on the post-World War II failure of a cohesive scientific society. The discussion continued after the faculty's discussion at a reception held in the Faculty Club Lounge. After the lecture series, it was made available through the generous assistance of the William Crawford Foundation, and the presentation was taped for broadcast over the American Interactions Instructional Television Network (IITV).

Baseball Update

Three with two hits, and Jack Caccipollo collected two hits for the Hawks. Domenick Ficarella went the distance for the win. He struck out six and did not allow an earned run until the eighth.

The Hawks then traveled to St. Francis to play with McKenzie. They won the first game 6-3 behind the pitching of Paul Nyjala. He allowed seven hits and only one earned run in recording the win. He struck out five. Ken Bram led the offense with two hits, including a home run, and drove in two runs. Chris Malczewski and Pastorek added two hits each and Steve Carpenielli added a home run for the Hawks.

In the second game the Hawks battled from seven run deficits twice to take the game into extra innings, only to lose a three run lead in the bottom of the eighth and the game 17-16. Chris Chioro collected four hits, scored three runs, and drove in five, three on a home run, to lead the 17 hit attack.

Konecki also collected four hits, while Bram collected three. Carpenielli scored four runs and hit his second home run of the day and Steve Sasso hit a grand slam home run, the first hit of his college career.

The Hawks came back home to play St. Francis Tuesday. They lost the game 7-2, although they out hit the Saints 3-3. The Hawks took the early lead as Caccipollo tripled in the first and came in on a Konecki ground ball. But two errors cost the Hawks five runs in the third. The Hawks also stranded 11 base runners and left the bases loaded twice.

Domenick Ficarella pitched a strong game, allowing only five hits and one earned run while striking out seven. His record is now 2-2. Caccipollo, Carpenielli, and Bram each collected two hits to lead the offense.

The Hawk bats came alive Thursday as they checked out 11 hits and beat USC 12-2. Jim Schoell drove in four runs, including the game winner, to lead the attack. Caccipollo, Pastorek, and Malczewski each collected two hits. Caccipollo led off the third with a tape measure home run, and Pastorek followed with a two run shot of his own as the Hawks scored seven in the inning. Paul Nyjala threw a complete game for the win. He allowed only six hits as he ran his record to 5-2.

This week the Hawks play a conference game at Olivet Nazarene Tuesday, then come home to St. Francis in a conference game Thursday. Friday the Hawks make up a rained out game with Concordia away, and Saturday play Olivet again in two non-conference games.
