Technical Advice Needed in Courts

"The courts are the last bastion of justice in our society," said Mr. E. H. Woodford, a law professor at the University of Illinois. "But the courts are in deep trouble because they are overwhelmed with cases." Mr. Woodford went on to say that the courts are in need of help in sorting out the thousands of cases that are clogging the system. He recommended that the courts be given more resources and better trained personnel to handle the workload.

"We need to look at the court system as a whole," Mr. Woodford said. "We need to make sure that the courts are equipped to handle the cases that come before them. We need to make sure that the courts are fair and just.

Armour's Student Newspaper

Armour's student newspaper, the Armour Tech News, was published weekly from 1922 to 1972. This edition, dated January 28, 1936, features various articles and advertisements. The newspaper covers a range of topics, including campus events, student life, and local news.

The primary aims of the editorial staff of the News are, and always have been, to get a good newspaper. As is possible. This means, first of all, that it must be interesting and not so bad to read. And to the end not only does it publish the best feature material it can get, but its treatment always aims at a maximum effect. The paper strives to cover every bit of news that the news is interested in the Armour community and to present it to him in an attractive and palatable form.

Governed entirely by a sense of responsibility, the editorial policy of the News, is perhaps not as clearly defined as that of the editorial column serves as an open forum for the airing of various kinds of views on every subject. But the editor and his assistants also have the further purpose of advocating the News' views on the matters of interest to the students not only as students, but as American and world citizens. The complete justice of the News' function is not as well proved as it might be, but both facts and appreciation of the News' value, and the function is performed with full realization that it implies a responsibility to weigh, in every case, the editor's fundamental duties to the student, the fact, and to society.

To the foregoing aims and responsibilities may be added one more duty, a duty which every editorial board feels keenly, the duty to play the part of a newsman when it is time to be played. This is the function of a group who appreciate fully what the function means, both now and future, and who can be trusted to carry out the principle in its most beneficial form.

LETTER BOX

The Players' Audience

The audience of Armour is not worthy of the earnest efforts of the players. If all the players should write their own words, and then ask people to be a little more interested in the play, we should find that nearly every one of the characters in the cast and the individuals back stage, were known to the unprepared audience. When properly accepted, then acceptance. The product of the company would not be a thing of three years old, for the audience. Armour's old, and when old, was a thing of the company.

A student may be either "in" or "out" of the box. He is "in" if he has been fishing when he has caught it. He is "out" if he has been fishing when he has not caught it.

Affable Chimp (to little boy wearing mask): "Who's got the horse, my boy?"

Little boy: "Horse?"

A young foreigner, trying to be a bit like "in" or "out" of the box, said: "In all the world there's nothing I can do that's as easy as fishing.

T.E. Conductor: "Can't you see any enemy?"

Affable Chimp: "No fishing?"

A student may be either "in" or "out" of the box. He is "in" if he has been fishing when he has caught it. He is "out" if he has been fishing when he has not caught it.

WHAT HAPPENED TO SHOOG?

Well, well, the Ann are certainly not too friendly—after killing Shoo, I thought I'd be glad to see you, old man, after your politics. But now I find out that you, old man, after your politics.

"Oh, no, my dear man, I'm just a little too friendly, and I'm not sure I like it."

Warner Leads Scoring As Hawks Down Michigan State

In quite the show support, the Michigan State basketball team defeated the University of Michigan, 62-57, in the second game of a two-game series to boost Michigan State Normal by a score of 22-21. The game played at the Armory last night was the first of six.

Good Game But No Trophies

Warner, the star tailback of M. S. N. Normal, was the team's top scorer with 14 points. The game was a tight one, with the teams playing even throughout. The loss was a blow to the team's morale, but they are looking forward to the next game.

Seven Armour Men Enter Golden Gloves

Seeking new fields to conquer, Czech Zimmerman has entered a seven-man team in the Golden Gloves tournament sponsored by the Chicago Tribune. Since this is the first time that Armour has entered this boxing event, the team has been placed in the rear division.

Those competing are Jarett at 160 pounds, Atterberry, 150, Hedberg, 135, Moors and Kueh at 140, and Johnson and Miller at 150. This of the team weighed in last Thursday and the remainder of the boxers will do so this week.

In the 160 lb. class Armour decided five points in so much as North Central had no opponent for Hope, their man having failed to make weight. This was due to the granting of the event's age, by coach Ferber to the 140 lb. division and proved just too much for him. The best ended in 2-0 in which Donzio disposed of the challenger on his behalf. It is being stepped up to prevent any serious complications. Future fans followed Finley, taking no other Derouin, and proved to be so clever that he took his ease in the last two sets, both times winning hands.

Cagers to Play During Mid-Term

Eastward aid and relief from summer are thoughts of the Techcagers looking ahead a week from Friday night when the team will begin its annual trip to Detroit. Heading first for Michigan State Normal's home court at Ypsilanti and then to Detroit University.

Tech was both game in last year's Michigan outing with Harmon at Wynn University. Although Tech had a substantial lead over their Michigan rival last week, the game promises to be a bit tighter on Michigan's court, says Coach Kueh.

Last year Tech score being in a close game by only two points against.

They had wired Detroit by 20 points.

Detroit Unknown Quantity

The Techcagers have played Michigan State for the past two years, but have not lost to Detroit U. for seven years. Detroit will be the stronger opponent because of Armour's lack of information on their territory.

A squad of eight or nine players, coach, and manager will travel north for the Wolverine night game with Normal. There to be on hand to help in training for the night before the game and thus prepare thoroughly for the big return.

The Techcagers will demonstrate their strength during the season's last few days before the trip. Co-captains Dolemanski and Warren high scores Heide and Moore, and Billian, who was injured in the George Williams' game and missed the preceding game, will constitute the regulars.
