Three Weeks!

Three weeks—does that mean the glass of water I've been drinking is now a bit waterier? Or are you—yes, you, confident of your physical staying power—about to stop drinking and wait for a new batch? That's the kind of question I mean to ask you. Not that we want to scare anyone, but the work in every curriculum at Armour, which has come to be known as the 'steel curtain' is quite powerful. It's possible for everyone to complete a course in the assigned time and then to review the work as far back as needed.

The examinations, while serving as a final incentive, are also a means to assess the student how well he has mastered the subject. The graduate engineer may at any time be called upon to give an account of himself, his imagination, his make-up may be determined in large part by his ability to understand the situation and apply what he has learned in engineering education.

School work may be a depressing mass of formulae, but it is by constant use of those highly developed methods that we arrive at the desired mastery that is our education. Oh, let's hit those books hard; get the main currents.

The exams, and the instructor accordingly.

In the remaining weeks, enough time remains in which to knock the final for a new try.

Moderation

The phrase, "Don't let your studies interfere with your college education," has probably been heard by everyone when he graduated from high school. But the same holds true when you're on the campus, for if statement that college is a change back to its original index. After all, we pay a certain sum each year for our education and when we see numbers of our student body wondering about some practical job, judging by fossil expressions, without that which we here to achieve, we sometimes wonder.

When we come to the human tendency of never being on time, for we that could read off reams of editorial material. Suffice it to say that "fast-food" society fails to find it more expedient, then ever before to arrive at a play before the curtain has come up. When the curtain goes up, the actors suffer more than the audience, namely, because the fellow "not found" are already antagonized toward the performer.

If you were unlucky enough to have an "A" subject you suppose you did attend a few classes last week, and during the semester we assume that the Champaign-Urbana area attended classes regularly, perhaps it is psychological, but it's still more fun to cut a class than try to be esteemed. Perhaps, as it was formerly, you had to ditch class to see a coveted event during Junior Week, there would have been more general interest in some of the events last week.

Now you're probably thinking that we are a bunch of cold-hearted, unfeeling creatures by criticizing on you immediately. However, Junior Week has come and gone; maybe you too are bored with the activities. Let us state the matter as it is. There are, however, certain things that should be mentioned perhaps some helpful suggestions while it is fresh on our minds to help make your next year's big week even more successful than was Junior Week.

On behalf of the students at Armour, the Nerve wishes to express its sympathy with Howard C. Downding, whose father died Monday, May 1. We likewise extend our deep sympathy to the Pettis family.

Well, boy, it's all over. Now we can take a deep breath and relax. The last big job of the season is over. We can think of other things, you see. The weather is warm and we can enjoy the outdoors. So let's enjoy the weather! We can't enjoy the outdoors unless we're happy, and we're happy now. Let's enjoy the outdoors! We can't enjoy the outdoors unless we're happy, and we're happy now. Let's enjoy the outdoors!

ARMOUR SQUAD IS DEFEATED 7-2 BY NO. CENTRAL "MINE" "TECH GETS FOUR HITS"

Last Friday night, the basketball squads of the North Central junior and senior high schools came to Armour on the heels of wins on the football field. Armour was victorious in the high school game and was defeated by the junior high school team, 7-2.

The junior basketball team, led by Bill Delavan, played an exciting game against the 2-7-2 Mine players. Despite being down 1-0 at the end of the first period, the Armour team fought back to take the lead at the end of the second period, 4-2. The Mine team, with a score of 1-0, continued to struggle throughout the game, allowing Armour to maintain their lead with a final score of 7-2.

This victory was a significant achievement for the Armour junior basketball team, as they had struggled with their recent losses. The game was a testament to their hard work and dedication, as they continued to improve and learn from their mistakes.

Dullessenemy Victim of Red Deson Jan: Support Weak

The Dullesenemy team, led by Jan, was defeated by the Red Deson team. The game was a close one, with both teams putting up a good fight. However, Deson was able to secure the win with a final score of 7-2.

The Dullesenemy team, with Jan leading the way, started off strong but struggled to keep up with Deson's aggressive play. Despite their efforts, they were unable to overcome the strong performance of Deson and were left with a final score of 7-2.

This loss was a disappointing end for the Dullesenemy team, as they had high hopes going into the game. However, this setback will only strengthen their resolve and motivate them to work even harder in the future.

Seniors Are Victors In Interclass Relay

The seniors were victorious in the interclass relay, leading the junior class. The relay race was a great opportunity for the students to showcase their athletic abilities and contribute to their team's success.

This win was a significant achievement for the seniors, as they were able to secure the lead and solidify their victory in the race. Their hard work and dedication paid off, as they were able to pull ahead and maintain their lead throughout the race.

This victory was a testament to the seniors' strength and determination, as they continued to push themselves and their team to achieve success. The interclass relay was a great opportunity for the students to come together and compete for their respective classes, creating a fun and competitive atmosphere.
