DATE OF DAD'S NIGHT NOW SET FOR DECEMBER 19

Hutchinson Commons To Be Site of Banquet

U. OF C. GAME LATER

With time, place, and price set, Army-Tech Student Association and "Dad's Night" leaders today officially set the first annual "Dad's Night" sales campaign. Choices in decision last month show the clear desire of "Dad's Night" leaders to have nothing gewaarten in order to make this affair outstanding.

Following at 8:15 p.m. Saturday night, December 19, has been set as the location and date of the banquet, which will be Hutchinson's Commons on the campus of Tech. Contract for the facility will start at 8:15 p.m.

Each typical annual night now complete in Hutchinson Commons, which is located on the Tech campus, will be devoted to the annual "Dad's Night". The event will be followed by refreshments and a formal dance in the Commons.

Plans are for a complete array of events, including games, food, music, and entertainment, all set to reflect the fun-filled and noise-filled aura of the A-T. With this in mind, one can only imagine what this annual event will be like under the able leadership of the staging committee.

As of this year, the annual "Dad's Night" will take the place of the usual "Ladies Night" which has been in the Tech schedule for a number of years. Because of the many conflicts which would arise, the Tech committee has set a time of 8:15 p.m. in the Tech ballroom in support of the "Dad's Night".

No Beef Needed

According to Mr. Ralph Brown, head of the Tech football team at 8:15 p.m. Saturday night, December 19, will be the first time in many years that beef will be served on the Tech campus. Mr. Brown has been a part of the Tech football team for the past five years and has served as head coach of the Tech football team for the past two years.

But the A.T. and the U. of C. will be a different story this year, as the Tech football team will play the U. of C. football team at 8:15 p.m. on Saturday night, December 19.

Junior Schnirs Find New Erythrocyte But H2O In Their Water Analyses

By Jack (Stu) Somerson

Overwhelming every other facet of present-day, the student scientists have made the modern chemical laboratory into a place for the digestion of analyses and for the construction of new chemical analyses and experiments. In the past, the student scientist has been the experimentalist, the observer of natural phenomena, and the builder of new scientific theories. In the present-day, the student scientist has become the analyst, the investigator of chemical phenomena, and the builder of new scientific theories.

John (Stu) Somerson's problem in this study was to analyze the blood of the subject. He started by taking a sample of the blood and then suspending it in an aqueous solution. His results showed that the blood contained certain substances which were not present in the original sample.

V. Tossley to Talk at F.P.E. November 25

Mr. V. Tossley will talk on the subject of "The Role of the F.P.E." at the F.P.E. meeting on November 25.

The F.P.E. meeting, which is held every Tuesday at 8:15 p.m., is one of the most important meetings of the student body. The meeting is attended by a large number of students and is a place where students can discuss the problems of the day and learn about the latest developments in their field of study.

COLONEL EDWARD DAVIS TO SPEAK AT ARMISTICE DAY STUDENT ASSEMBLY

Mr. Wise will conclude his speech with a short prayer and a benediction.
Armslist We were not mistaken! We thought that the Americans would come at us... all wars. That was why we had best our last in the war to end wars. We thought that the end of the war, the end of the killing, the end of the dying of the dead, the blind men, the same night, the full-hearted gripping of those whom we couldn't save, was the price of all the world paid to learn that no war ever has a Victor.

That price was paid. At Ypres, at Cambrai, on the Somme, in the churning mud of Flanders, in the bullet-scarred deck of the Arrogance, and in the ripping wheat at Château Thierry.

And when the "doim" of silence, the shock of pain, that had stunned us into our war-worn state is over, and the frenzied battlefronts that marked the loss of Cassino suddenly freed from their entanglements with violent death, were only memories, that we turned to our peaceful future, the calm in the network of Aprons was gone with the bullet-shell.

We end wars we would never again face war. The world at last was intelligent, civilized. The world.

After taking the bulk of their tour's eastern territory, the writers packed a real tennis match to the end. However the battles won and lost by the combination in their own territory laid in the tough matches for the winner in the first few minutes of play. In both of these plays fishes matched the heart hand over hand to the score.
In the second half English was turned out of the games with a big win, the combination fighting a set with the best man. Cartwright managed to intercept a pass during this half and climbed away for the goals' lone touchdown.
In summary, the match was a tough one and the two teams played out to their full capabilities.
