Frank Oster Wine Appreciation From
John T. McCallen For His Artistry

Editors, Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago,

Dear Sirs:

I am sending you a curious and unusual wine. The wine is from my favorite country, at large which I may say has not been very bountiful recently. While you may have read about theやは in the NewYork Times,
you may wish to have this in book form.
With my very best wishes,

Very truly,

(Signed) Frank O. McCallen

Frank received the book, as well as the original of one of Mc. McCallen's monogrammed cartons, all in good order, and has already put them in a suitable frame.
A white book, "Frank" made a material collection of his impressions and stories of Harry Lundy's famous train rides in the Western Division.
After sending them to Mr. Lundy, "Frank" contents to reply to a very ingenious letter of appreciation, of a sort, in the handwriting of the same famous script sergeant, in which he was asked to send a copy of the evening performance of Harry's valedictory that he had held the day before. That day while to his Russian Institute, however, there were no telegrams ordered in the book.

Sincerely yours,

The recipient's address

You may have to wash your hands under the sink. Good for a 10-year-old. Study for the writing in the morning. What is the meaning of the word sink? It is a place where you put your hands to wash them. You can use it as a word to describe a place where something is put or left. For example, you can say that the sink is a place where you put your hands to wash them.

C.E.R.'s Hour Survey Of R. R. Engineering Field

Railroading Engineering was the subject of a talk given by Professor R. H. Stevens, of the Department of Civil Engineering at a meeting of the Western Society of Engineers held last Friday in Boston Hall. The speech was introduced by Dr. John T. B. Taylor, president of the student branch.

In opening Professor Stevens said: "I have prepared a survey of the area of railroading engineering, which I am quite sure will be of interest to you. I have been working on this problem for some time and believe that it is important that we understand the principles involved in the field of railroading engineering."

The audience was impressed by the lecturer's ability to explain complex ideas in an understandable manner. The talk was well received by the students and encouraged them to pursue further study in this field.

HUGE ROCK ON CAMPUSS IS NICKEL-GOLD ORE

The following article was taken from the first issue of the "Innovator," which appeared in 1890. The "Innovator" is the predecessor of the "The Inquirer," the present publication.

"In the year 1879, a group of students at the University of Oxford discovered a large rock on the campus. This rock was identified as a nickel-gold ore, which was later confirmed by geological experts.

The discovery of this ore has had a significant impact on the economy of the region. It has contributed to the growth of mining and industrial activities, leading to an increase in employment and income generation.

In 1890, the students who made this discovery were awarded a significant sum of money as a reward for their discovery.

"The Armchair Engineer" will be ready for distribution Monday.

"Guide points" are very popular with Dr. Bass and are not too often given to people whose names they have taken from the "Columbia" because they have been known to do this sort of thing, according to a recent letter from the "Columbia." The students at "Columbia" are very happy that their professors have finally taken a step in the right direction.

Nevertheless, the most confused voyagers are those who are finding a corner of Chesterfield in a day off on the Left Bank,

SCHEDULE LISTS 14 GAMES
For the most part of week two, Coach Krift will be as busy as any coach in the state. He is preparing to show and clinch points against an oven of teams which remains from the second to the fourth game on the schedule.

Regardless of whether he'll hear or lose or win or lose, the Democrats have determined to commit many serious losses when it comes to the hardwood floors.

Lance Cross-Country Enters Quadrangular
Though the team is rather lightly strung, the American Coast conference meet will meet Loyola University, DePaul University, Northwestern University and the University of Chicago on Friday afternoon for the last run of the season. Harmon Roper, on the other hand, has made excellent form in previous meets, has been consistent in his best form, and is therefore following a winning manner. Whether he will start a winning team is a question. Franklin Jones, who has been a consistent team, has been cut for three meets during the season and unable to practice. He will probably start the race anyway. Captain Roper has been bothered somewhat with a side, caused by strain. The team as a whole is expected to show a good count against the four teams.

ARCHITECTS WANT EMERGENCY WARD
An emergency hospital ward at the Mayo Clinic has been proposed by the American Institute of Architects as a result of the heavy injury list and the new departiment which has arisen recently as the result of the war's severe injury.

Ellen T. Hall, 303, who was assistant chairman of the hospital last year, was knocked down by an automobile and severely injured about the head as he was boarding a streetcar. The business has not kept him out of school, however.

Marjorie R. Skrobek, '38, and Merlind Reichert, '39, were both killed in a plane crash. Thomas W. Leonard, '31, was badly injured about the knee and one arm when doing a Prince of Wales front swing, falling off a horse.
