J. T. Rettaliata Is Picked As New ME Head

Specialist in Turbine Comes From Industry

As a 4th year student at MIT, Rettaliata had planned to study mechanical engineering but his desire to work on gas turbines in the Marine Industry eventually led him to choose a career in that field. After graduation, he worked for the company for 10 years before joining the National Academy of Sciences as a expert on special applications of engineering.

Dr. Rettaliata has been working for the Department of Defense and began work as chief of the mechanical engineering and instrumentation at Johns Hopkins University.

Dr. Rettaliata has also been an active member of Sigma XI, the national honorary science research association, and is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Pi Tau Sigma Holds Rushing Activities

Rushing was held by Pi Tau Sigma, the mechanical engineering honor society, on Tuesday evening. The society is open to all freshman and sophomore engineering majors.

Three new scholarships were awarded to engineering students at Illinois Institute of Technology. The scholarships are designed to provide financial assistance to students in need and are open to all major engineering programs.

ASCE To Outline Policies At Farm’s First Session

The student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers will hold its first meeting of the new semester on Friday, July 28, at 2:30 P.M. in Room 229, Pills. Plans for the society will be presented at this meeting on the student engineer's work and activities, particularly the ASCE National Council.
Man Of The Week
Scholar, Athlete, Scout Sums Up
Bill Cannon of Salt Lake City

The Man Of The Week spotlight brings in quiet unassuming classmates of Bill Cannon, a well-respected student in his circle of friends. He has always stood out as a role model for his peers,

Integral Ball
One of ITT's most colorful social affairs, the annual "Integral Ball" is near at hand.

Under the sponsorship of the senior class, this ballyhoo is set as much a success as its predecessors were.

The Integral Ball has always been an unique affair, differentiated from other dances by the fact that the girls in attendance are nicknamed the "Integral Queen.

But, on the activity's as it does, for all it is, don't be discouraged. Your girlfriend doesn't have to be Lana Turner in order for you to submit a photograph of her for the "Integral Queen" contest. The procedure is simple; just bring the picture to the ITT News Bureau Office before August 2.

With the facilities of the "Lana ITT's date picture" at the disposal of every student, there should be no excuse for every man at ITT not coming to the "Ball.

Roy Milton's orchestra plus the beautiful ballroom of the Continental Hotel will help make the "Integral Ball" one of the finest dances of the year.

Elections
In past few semesters, the editorial column of Technology News hasn't had anything very complimentary to say about class elections at ITT. This editorial isn't going say any better. It is, however, in the true interest of the students and those concerned.

As usual, the number of students voting is usually very low. Even more discouraging, however, is the small number of students running for class offices. In normal times, class offices is a treasured position. To record ITT elections, it has usually been a matter of drafting a few people to fill such apparently undesired positions as president of the ITSRA, president of the junior, sophomore and freshman classes, etc.

Without trying to analyze the situation as it exists, it is quite obvious that ITT men are not being properly trained to accept positions in our industrial society. Where are our nation's leaders to be trained if not on the college campus?

In industry, society is competitive. At ITT, men merely get to see a few men who havent made a mark and he is practically assured an office. For example, out of 14 offices to be filled by the upcomers, 6 of those offices are already reserved.

The undergraduates were scheduled to hold their elections at class meeting last Friday. Although more were candidates for office, they were having their pictures taken. As a result, the undergraduates will meet this week and try to be very pleased to see a large turnout of those men.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

We wish to call the attention of our readers and yourself of the errors of some paramount points in your paper. There were certain串联several changes made in the sequence of the story. We noticed some omissions in the details which may have been overlooked.

We hope that, in the future, facts will be checked before being printed so that there will be no need to thank the ESS Dept for their patience.

Respectfully,

Steven Johnson

The Steam Shovel

"It digs up the dirt"

The order of the "Steam Shovel" goes this week to A/S Tucker Matlack. It seems that Tucker needed a pretty recently at which there were some trouble. The Steam Shovel brought a beautiful bracelet with "bathroom eyes" to the affair, and as it turned out, almost everyone was interested in her, making Tucker very unhappy. Among those were A/S Marlin in a state of Highness, who really caused a great deal of misery for Tucker.

Highlights of the affair was Willy Scholfe, who noted that he had a pretty following a French curve and demonstrated such when he took his girls home. Another attraction was one of the small Scandinavians going home with a girl who was a favorite from the "trendy" crowd.

Apologia on this week to Professor Goosen of the department's staff. We will never call him "Sleeping Smith" again. He is a great writer but something must have gone wrong with the proofreading, or to A/S Tom Duff of Hudson, Wisconsin, for calling him "The Luck of the Trolls." All too often the proofreader about this is, "It is nifty but aloof.

Pat (Wendt) Brennan in her usual cap for the husband of a rather long time,似的Jez Kracker should make a good enough bucket c., although she is not in the Over generous crowd. Charlie finally succeeded to get a date, but he was a bit too late. He got a date with a girl from the "Great One" Brewery.

"Black Jack" Mark of the week is A/S Charlie Brown of Hudson, Wisconsin. Charlie has been trying to get a date with a girl whose name has escaped the memory of the reporter.

After unsuccessful attempts, Charlie finally succeeded to get a date. He got a date with a girl who had a week-end watch. Better luck for your next war-time, Charlie.

Bob Parker, a new "student" at a third-year course, and a rather loud member of the V.I.B. and came along. Since it was "ball week," Parker had time to spare and shaded his face. The afternoon officer also drew "opponently," and asked, "Are you on the Navy?" Don't ask.

This week's "People Page" is awarded to A/S Bill Brown of the "private" crowd. Not that we don't appreciate your work, but don't be so conceited. No one in the Glee Club.

"Doe Days" is a war-time event. Oh, love, Bill dated a descriptive female almost every night. In fact, he had a date with her Sunday evening. Earlier this same Sunday, Bill's girl called to say to him on the phone of the evening, an "old friend" was coming home. Since Bill had a date with her, he got back to ITT on Tuesday, poor Marline received a "Dear John" letter telling him that his wife was married Monday.

The Slip Stick

Close-to-the-Sliphead—Let the Sliphead Fall Where It May

This week's column is dedicated to bicycles, which brings a little story we overheard in a maternity ward. One little baby said to another, "I'm a boy baby."

The proverb: "Every man has his day" is true. It is but a matter of time before we will all be kids again. We hope we will all travel on a bicycle again.

Drukkar 1. Telephone bell: "One boy, but—I want my papa."

Saletor. (addressing company representative): "I'm sorry, I'm busy now."

Order: "Will he be back here?"

Order: "Oh! I think he's out for a little walk."

She has a green coat and a foreign hat.

A barefoot man with a built-up seat.

And she does it all on thirty-nine.

Edits it or it's the truth.

The boy, who has been at the same teaching lab.

Edits this in arithmetic.

Teacher: "Now, children, every morning you ought to take a cold bath; that will make you feel well all day. And there are questions: "Boy in the back of the room: 'Who was the first regular player on your team?'

Teacher: "Beck, your new fellow. Like he goes out to forwards and four to the money.

Drew: "No, indeed! He's the flyweight."

The Good Shoe says: "Chief, don't get too close."

And comes some odd: "I don't agree with you."

It will get wet and uncomfortable."

"I'm in the lead."

I'm not happy."

And while you are not at all philanthropic, it's unlucky to have your trousers there at the same time you are buying the drinks."

-THE RAZOR BLADE
Daring Expose of IIT's Coach, 'Sonny' Weisman

Entirely too much material of a slanderous and unsavory nature has been written and printed about Coach 'Sonny' Weisman, who holds in his office the second row of the student union as assistant athletic director.

According to the latest reports, Coach Weisman has been the subject of a number of sensational stories and headlines, none of which have been substantiated. The stories have been based on allegations and rumors, with no factual evidence to support them.

It is令人震惊 that such lies and distortions have been allowed to circulate, and it is令人震惊 that the public has been misled in this way.

In order to correct the record and set the record straight,Coach Weisman has decided to take legal action against those responsible for spreading these false and malicious tales.

He has hired a team of top legal experts to handle the case, and is confident that justice will be served.

The stories in question have caused great harm to Coach Weisman's reputation, and he is determined to fight back.

The throngs of false and malicious rumors have only served to strengthen his resolve, and he is looking forward to the day when the truth will come out and the public will be able to see him for the man he truly is.

Coach Weisman is committed to clearing his name, and he will not rest until the truth has been told.
