An Active Honor Board

Very little has been heard of the Honor Board since the beginning of the term. One case this term resulted in a conviction but aside from that the board has been unremarkable. It would seem that the nature of the board’s work demands no publicity since names of men brought before it are known only to the members. Thus the lack of news is due to a lack of cases.

It has been suggested that the reason for the apparent lack of cases is the death of a student—Howard Lee. However, it is hoped that this condition is a result of a student ignorance of the powers of the board.

Upon deciding that the defendant is guilty of cheating, the board may recommend severe forms of punishment. A student may be expelled from the school with a consequent loss of all college credits at IT. About the most lenient rule is one that grants a man incomplete grades. In a course until a cribbed exam was made up. Two convictions before the board are almost certain expulsion. A loss of a possibly four years of college work would be a severe blow.

The discharge of chairman Rudolph Fogg just a few weeks ago has been a blow to the planned campaign of the board to increase the prestige of the System. However, with the election of Howard Johnson as chairman last week, the activities will be resumed. He is scheduled to speak before the next meeting of the Faculty Council to reawaken faculty interest.

The Honor Board is a strong power in itself, but the Honor System is not as strong as it should be. With increased interest on the part of both students and faculty, greater effectiveness of the System should soon become evident.

Know Your Fraternities

Rho Delta Rho Returns As Growing Fraternity

In the latter months of 1919, several students at Arizona Institute of Technology, led by the iron spirit of college fraternities, planned for the organization of a fraternity. After a short while, the group took definite steps toward becoming a recognized fraternity on the Arizona campus. On August 27, 1919, the Rho Delta Rho fraternity was chartered, after the formal petition was drawn up and presented to the Institute. The petition was accepted and in February, 1920, the Rho Delta Rho became an active fraternity on the campus.

The initial membership numbered only ten, but because of the desire for membership by the majority of the men following in their steps, the fraternity grew and increased both in size and in importance on the campus. The fraternity, in spite of its comparatively small age, has done unusually well.

Because of the number of members being called to service, last semester the organization was compelled become inactive. However, it has reorganized this semester. It is looking forward now to even greater growth in the coming months as the active members return from the service. The Rho Delta Rho are very active social organization.

"Deeper and dirkier in '41." With this thought in mind let us review the latest diggings.

A couple of real finders are A.B. DeWitt DeLong and J.F. Bloy at the $10,000 party on the Michigan Ave., but last Wednesday night, these "Mabryhams" were seen matching pennies with a couple of the younger female passengers. Such was their eagerness for a few red cents that they rode past their stop in a taxi and were turned out at the curb.

Albert Adams has made New Year's resolution he knows he will keep. He has resolved not to have any more parties. Last week Albert was hit in a fraternity party at his home. After it was over Albert discovered that some "art- ful" had spent what must have been considerable time decorating the walls with stencils. Other considerate guests swept confetti and paper under the carpet. Mr. Adams is afraid that some of the furniture will have to be replaced and a number of dishes replaced. Also, some curious articles were left after the party, all of which (with the exceptions of a fifth of liquor) can be blamed on the stewardess. However, Albert will get anlavision notice very soon, too.

The IY student who made the trip to Christmas vacation got stiff in fairly common. But considers the case of huckster Dick Jacobs who spent nine days in the hospital last week. Dick was laid up by coming down with the flu the first day home and got over it just in time to make the first snow.

Leonard Shabazz was fascinated by a certain red head who was the life of a New Year's party at "just happened" and the party broke up "Sir Gallahad" Shabazz vanished in to be heard from. Shabazz was finally seen stargazing home. Can this be the case of the lost four hours? We guess not.

Bryce Beardsley showed off the halls of Chapin yesterday with a perturbed look on her face as she asked whether the regular, "I've lost my bow tie, which isn't so bad, but it had a pony in the frapper, too." There's a ric and very likely to be heard a week or two from now that sight.

The holiday spirit prevailed during a pre-christmas math game in spite of the fact that Professor Reekalshakill was engrossed in reducing a newly developed equation on a straight-forward relationship. When finished he asked the class, "Are there any questions?" No answer. "Chainsimilic and thirty students jammed through the doorway at once."

The celebration of New Year's Eve was characterized by a most unusual event that was that of A.B. Bogue Pyle attempting to hold up some of the women in the magazine. Our trusty newsman driven to desperation by the strain of holiday spending was too much under the influence of N.Y. perfume.

Stay "Don't Call Me Ginger" Murphy went dateing a few weeks ago from Miss De Paul. During the date he met a girl, known only as Dorothy, who seemed to have more than something to do with Magazine. In fact, Dorothy referred to him as "Willie the Wook." Under your advice? Nyna advised him he didn't know, but her roommates have been convinced that Dorothy didn't know.

Bill Dembowski has enjoyed to everyone that with his clean manners his name was never brought to the powerful scrutiny of Shemebeard. Well the last has been uncovered. He was invited to a big Christmas party, in Green by two girls. First, he met lovely Robie and was overwhelmed by her charming personality. Half an hour into the party, he enquired the first half of the evening with her. Then the second, Dulcie, Georgina, arrived and in a sweep took Bill's evening away. The half just with "What a night," but Bill was sure he could take care of them both. So when time came to go, it was rumoured that there was an argument as to who was to be waltzed home first. Now, Robie and Georgina are roommates and it is stated that Bill will have to resort to the link for his date. Now, what brings that picture up?

It was at one of those pre-Christmas parties that Rover-Bay Dan Hedding added "Show-me-a- little affection." Rover-Bay knew well what he was asking for. Nothing, but the answer to his question was rather abrupt. "Where do you go?" Rover-Bay. "They go down in the boat to see the疗法 sulphuric come in." Rover-Bay. "And so in dining, remember you have who resolved to abstain from the demon rum that, "One swallow doesn't make aummer, but it breaks a New Year's resolution."

Man Of The Week
Band, Orchestra and Fraternity Offices, Occupies James Wooding

This week the spotlight shines on A.S. James Wooding, all our choice for the "Man of the Week." Hailing from Akron, O., Jim is a seventh term mechanical engineering student.

Jim first arrived on UT's campus in his junior year following a somewhat deliberate path. Immediately upon graduation from high school, the Navy called and trained him at the Great Lakes boot camp. An application for V2's at t h a t time took him to Purdue University as a freshman and then to George Williams College in N. J. sophomore year.

Perhaps most of all, the army will join the Hag in the immortal "V-54". More globally, he will be recognized for his abilities with the trumpet as a member of the swing band and orchestra, as well as the band in the Glee Club of Alpha Pi Omega, the campus service fraternity.

Jim is also an active member of Kappa Phi Pi and the mechanical honorary fraternity, Pi Tau Sigma. He is also active in interscholastic sports. His membership is in service, social and honorary Fraternity indicates that he is the first to think of others in college life.

Jim, a senior in high school, has been more than busy. In addition to attending right classes, he has also been a member of the Mark Twain Artistic Club. He is also a member of the National Honor Society and a member of the Phi Tau Theta Club.

When asked what he did for recreation, Jim mentioned the little group that he formed with his comrade. It was a thousand-mile trip from Akron, O., to Milwaukee, Wis. Swimming and opera also receive a share of his leisure time.

With the completion of his V2 training, Jim hopes to receive his commission and complete a year of active service before thinking about civilian life. When he leaves, he will go in the Air Force to take a year of liberal arts at some university. He is also planning his engineering training before looking for any engineering position.

GOSH! THIS SURE HELPS ME A LOT

A Vet Looks at School Life

By CHIRIS COLLAR

It was a vet in St. Mary's Hospital who first gave me that old G.I. mentality. "I wouldn't give a dollar for what I went through in the army," and he added reflectively, "not a plugged nickel to go through it again."

Isn't it true, however, that, as long as America is an immigrant country, there are currents that sweep its mind and the variables of its peoples assume general significance? Perhaps it wasn't the history book America—or the tyrant in the back of some politician who says what he doesn't really mean. But, for better or worse, America is in the position of knowing the minds and intentions of its leaders. If the latter is true, I didn't quite realize how important this knowledge—after all—is to America. Ever since I've been in the service of the United States, I've realized how essential a knowledge of the enrollment at Illinois Tech.

Because a good deal of the veteran's knowledge is in the department of history, he is in the position of knowing the minds and intentions of the situation. He becomes the man who can best make use of the situation. If he not only says you guys and gals who never saw service can help make a nation, but that they can help make a nation, it's true.

I'm one of many looking for the veteran's knowledge. I'm a discovery. And I'm in a position of knowing the minds and intentions of the situation.

Not yet is your faith and hope to your government's understanding of the situation. We're in a position of knowing the minds and intentions of the situation. We're in a position of knowing the minds and intentions of the situation. We're in a position of knowing the minds and intentions of the situation.

ITT Enrollment Hits 3102 Total

The student enrollment for Illinois Tech for both day and evening session has risen to the great total of 3102, stated Registrar William Delay. The day school enrollment is 1999, just slightly below that of evening school.

In the day classes, there are 485 veterans and 92 women enrolled. This means that for each woman there are 18.6 men at ITT. All ITT women take notice of this since the figure has dropped from 18.2 in 1952 to 16.1 men to each girl in 1953.

The ME department still leads the rest by having 572 students majoring in mechanical engineering. This is about 30 per cent of the total enrollment. This figure is about the same as that for last term. The EE department, with an enrollment of 643 students, the mathematics dept. is trailing behind with 90 students enrolled.

The freshman class has the greatest enrollment with 446 students. Next in line are the 264 students who make up the junior class. The sophomore and junior classes have 205 and 977 students respectively.
