Boogie Beaters Brought Jazz To South Side Chicago in 111

Despite the common belief that jazz came to Chicago in 1911, with the arrival of the Original Creole Jazz Band, the truth is that jazz had been in Chicago since 1911. In fact, among the first to promote jazz as a new music was Tony Jackson, who often played with the Creole Jazz Band. This band features prominent musicians such as Freddie Keppard, cornet; George Johnson, clarinet; Bill Johnson, tenor; and Dankworth. The band's popularity led to many recordings, including "Big Chief." The band's popularity and success helped spread the influence of jazz and Blues in Chicago, setting the stage for the Boogie Beaters and other Chicago-based jazz ensembles.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR: Milk Prices

Hearing reliable reports of other institutions being able to reduce the price of milk sets me wondering as to the expenses of the ITT "Co-ops." Could some arrangement have been worked out with the University for, one, reduction of our milk contract? Two, that our school, with government aid, has been able to cut our milk prices to the minimum and that we are paying less than one cent a gallon for the milk provided. The milk used in the serving dishes and the cafeteria should be reduced to the amount actually consumed. The water product sold in stores here about that price but prices are a little higher due to the high taxes and the cost of labor.

Dr. Bode solved the problem of the recent demotion of the new class building by stating: "My long association with the University has shown me that the collapse of the structure was because the scaffolding was not of first grade quality."

"Heed of the Week" goes to Walter Kaslaski, who wants the student to venture out to a famous tourist hotel on his own initiative in order to see the sights. He is a student at the University of Chicago and was interested in the University of Chicago's campus.

Andrew Read couldn't imagine that the bare limbs of the new buildings were not going up for the destruction by a storm. He was looking forward to the new buildings on the campus, just knowing that they would be completed soon. Perhaps the gentlemen who are expected or football don’t realize it but the Institute is harboring one of the greatest single collections of high-calibre men in the country.

Even such great factories as the North American and the General Electric are making use of high-calibre men in the way of engineers. They are giving these men their schooling at the Institute.

Do you know that there are 99,000 veterans who are expected to enter high schools or colleges within the next six months? It is estimated that there are 20,000 veterans who will enter the Institute.

Causes of Unrest in Family Life Discussed

Last Tuesday evening approximately 100 members of the Newman Club and their guests discussed with Rev. Fred J. Mann, C.S.C., the causes of failure in present day marriage. In 1949, one out of every four and one out of every three marriages ended in divorce, said Rev. Mann, while in 1958 this ratio rose to one out of every three.

Father Mann traced the changes in the public attitude toward divorce from 1890 when it was considered an aberration through 1915 when it was accepted, 1920 when it was popular, 1930 when it was considered foolish, and 1940 when it was almost expected that a couple entering marriage would separate.

Along with this change in attitude toward divorce in the community, Father Mann observed, several changes have occurred in the family itself, particularly in the role of women within the family. The most outstanding of these, according to Father Mann, is the fact that the woman is no longer looked upon as the recipient of the home but as the active partner in its establishment.

The discussion centered around the changes in the family, the changes in the attitude toward divorce, the changes in the roles of women, and the changes in the public attitude toward marriage. Father Mann concluded his remarks by stressing the need for an understanding of the changes that have occurred in the family and by stressing the need for a return to traditional values.

CAMPUS COMMENTS

body has ever claimed that 177 is a "hot-weather" spot or even weather-tight classroom. The whole place is likely to collapse any minute. But we accept it.

However, there is one condition at 177 which is absolutely irresistible: and that is the condition of some of the washrooms. Obviously the people who have the authority to do something about them, do not have a real interest in them. Why don't somebody take ten of my 500 and buy some soap dispensers? What better way is there to get agreed than with a public bar of soap? (And we mean a public bar of soap.)

Furthermore:

- the used paper towel often overflow;
- the odor of the anatomy section and its inhabitants inhabit our washrooms is equal to none;
- the washrooms are usually dirty.

How about a little consideration from the tip?

New School Emblem Design Sought by ITS; Parker Pen Ads Prized

Illinois Tech students will be given the opportunity to improve upon the present school emblem in the forthcoming contest sponsored by the ITS to select the new design submitted by students. The present emblem was designed inadequately since it isn't representative of the "new" institution.

Jim Tippett, chairman of the committee, stated that the final date for entries will be published in the Tech News at some future time. The first eliminations will be judged by a representative student and faculty group, final selections to be voted upon by all students.

The originator of the winning emblem will be awarded a Parker Pen and pencil set by the bookstore. The winning emblem will be put on all banners, decals, etc. Nickelodeon made by students taking technical drawing will be credited as an optional class.

Jim Ladd Returns to Campus As Student, Coach of Boxing

The new boxing coach at IIT, Jim Ladd, is a man who has packed plenty of action and experience into his 36 years. Having been a "name" fighter for the past three years, Jim is well qualified to instruct the Teckwah boxers in the finer points of the sport.

Coach Ladd began boxing formally when he was about 16 years old. Although previous to that time he had not been idle. After his graduation from high school, he was engaged in boxing and was assigned to the Navy V-12 program. His first station was Purdue University where Ladd coached the boxing team. In 1943 he was assigned to the Navy as an instructor.

While on the Armour Campus the boxing coach was particularly active, especially in his favorite sport. He

The intramural football championship will be awarded today when the Sr. Mechs and the Sr. P.O.'s clash on Osgood Field at 3:30 p.m. By whipping the Greens a week ago the Mechs maintained a perfect season's record of five wins against no losses while eliminating the other title contender.

If the Mechs clinch the victory today they win the championship. On the other hand, if the P.O.'s win, one more game will have to be played to determine the tournament rules stated that a team must lose two games.

The P.O.'s will counter with Ray Sherrill and his quarterback extraordinarily. The Mechs need but five minutes to show their superiority over the small Greens crowd. The Mechs pushed over three scores in the first half and continued to build on their lead, skidding only at the final whistle of the 43-0 game. George Erhart led the scoring parade with four touchdowns. Herb Herro accounted for two of the scores while Mickey McDonald added four touchdowns more.

After a series of three losses, the P.O.'s will pile up points with the help of Herb Herro's touchdown, scoring several points in the Mechs two-week span.
