Immediate Start of Construction on $6,000,000 Housing Plan Announced

A Contractors will start construction on a new housing plan to accommodate and staff members of the Illinois Institute of Technology. The plan, which was announced last week, includes the construction of approximately 1,000 new housing units.

Scheduled for completion in early spring, the project is expected to be completed by the end of the year. The housing will be divided into four main sections: two dormitories for students, a faculty housing complex, and a graduate student housing area.

The new dormitories will consist of single and double rooms, with each room equipped with a private bathroom and a small kitchenette. The faculty housing complex will include one-bedroom units, with amenities such as a shared living room and a full kitchen. The graduate student housing will consist of studio apartments, with a focus on comfortable and efficient living.

The new plan is part of the Illinois Institute of Technology's ongoing efforts to expand and improve its facilities. The university has been working to attract more students and faculty, and the new housing will help to accommodate this growth.
