The vote at the last YPA was indicative and before action can be taken, the YPA will have the last word on the important matter. There is a space provided for "I don't know." An undervoted student can indicate his opinion.

Harwood Benson was nominated to the position of Editor in Chief of Technology News. The announcement was made at the meeting of the Executive Committee on January 11.

PRELUDE TO ACTION?

The Chicago Transit Authority has released a report on the results of a traffic survey at the Thirty-third Street station. The survey, part of a larger study, examined the need for additional transportation on the stations of the "L" system. The survey revealed that the Thirty-third Street station was the busiest of all the stations surveyed. In response, the CTA is proposing to expand the station, which will require the demolition of the old station building. The plan is estimated to cost $5 million and will take two years to complete.

IN THE CLEAR

For years, the CTA has faced criticism for its alleged inefficiencies and mismanagement. A recent audit by the Auditor General's Office found that the CTA has been misusing funds and failing to provide adequate service to its customers. The report also revealed that the CTA has been slow to address concerns about safety and maintenance, leading to a number of accidents and delays.

Letters To The Editor

Potential Campus Leaders Are Urged To Spur Flailing School Spirit

Dear Sir: It is frequently the custom of columnists to write their columns about the state of the world as they see it. But I would like to take this opportunity to speak directly to the students of the Illinois Institute of Technology. I am a student at Illinois Tech, and I believe that we have a responsibility to our community to do more than just attend classes and participate in extracurricular activities. We are the future leaders of our country, and we must learn to lead by example.

The future of Illinois Tech is in our hands, and we must work to make our campus a place where learning and innovation thrive. We must also be a part of the community around us, and we must be willing to take action when necessary. We must be willing to speak up and to lead by example.

Sincerely,

CLASS ELECTIONS

This fall will witness a candidate named when the nomination was released.

The conditions outline the eligibility and the ability of the candidates.

New System: A new system of filling the office will be used to determine the eligibility of the candidates.

The system, according to the rules, will be conducted on a "systematic basis" where the votes cast will be verified and counted. The system, as it is known, has been criticized by some.

The advantages of this system are that it will be possible for the winning candidate to get a majority vote and not just a plurality. The method is expected to be adopted by a number of schools.

Non-votes Ineligible

When the ballots are counted, each of the candidates running for an office will be given a number in the order of preference shown on the individual ballots. The names of the number written on each candidate's name will indicate the total number of votes cast in that race. The winner is selected from the candidates in order of preference shown on the individual ballots.

The Illinois Tech student body is expected to have a number of candidates, according to the rules, who will be eligible for the election. The Illinois Tech student body is expected to have a number of candidates, according to the rules, who will be eligible for the election.

Mr. Teller, who recently moved on as an observer for Illinois Tech and several other organizations at the Maxon City UNESCO meeting, outlined the three-point program that has been set up to further UNESCO's objectives in educational committes. His points were illustrated with information on the education and administration of UNESCO and with comments on running heads of the Maxon City meeting.

He pointed out that students here have a wonderful opportunity to promote understanding between nations by involving the student body in the activities that lead them toward UNESCO's goals.

Wolves Defeat Flashes 24-16

by Larry Shawshe

The Wolves won their third straight game and carried into the lead in the "C" division of the Illini league by upping the scoreboard to 56-16.

With the Wolves 6-4 season, Fred Weiler, retiring as an invisible within the entire first half, the Wolves offered their opponents. However, Weiler's departure from the lineup did not diminish the Wolves' spirit and determination. The Wolves held a slim 5-3 margin at halftime.

The Wolves' precision under the boards supplied the Wolves with the height needed to roll up a 21-12 lead in 3 and first minutes to play. The Flashes forced the players up and down the court, but the Wolves held on to win 24-16. KEF Jennings led the Wolf defense with 13 points.

Additional Action Along 16 Front

Gruen, the center of the Northern Illinois roster, showed the Zinner Barns to grab 13 of 15 with the winner's Jerry Johnson connecting on five field goals and 13 charity shots.

Wiss Kids won 27-16 game from Illinois, while the Hillard Barbers added two more victories from the Central Illinois 26-22, 21-13.

High scores for the Whites Kids were Joe Long and "Red" Case, each netting 15 points against the Hillard. The leading scorer for the Wolves was Jerry Johnson, with 13 points.

If playing time has been cut to four points a game, however, play in both the basketball and volleyball tournaments will be continued to the second week in March allowing ample time to complete both tournaments.

The newly-formed Student Co-ordination Council will have its first meeting February 15.

From suggestions of the need to increase school spirit came the idea for this council. The aim of the committee is to coordinate activities so that a student can be active in more than one group without conflicts in meetings.

A list of the 44 existing school organizations was presented to the SCA board of control at its last meeting by the student sponsors of the committees. Bill Penrose, Ed Krein, and Warren Brumbacker. The organizations were divided into categories of: administration, professional societies, student organizations, athletics, professional societies, clubs, and fraternities.
