HUMOR

The nature of most men is such that good humor is appreciated and sought. While there may exist some who are, it is true, average, a man who has the knack to make jokes, to the laughter of others with a good deal of mirth. Such a man is a rare and valuable asset to be possessed. The joke, it seems, is the great leveller, the great equalizer.

In a school of art, humor is the one thing that no amount of effort can produce. A sense of humor is an inborn quality, and it cannot be taught. It is a natural gift, a gift that is rare and valuable.

There is a saying that goes: "He who laughs last, laughs best." This is true. The person who can make others laugh is not only happy himself, but he also brings happiness to others. This is the true meaning of humor.

We must not forget that humor is not just a way to make others laugh, but it is also a way to express our feelings. It is a way to show our love for others, and it is a way to show our own love for ourselves.

In short, humor is a treasure that we should cherish and protect. It is a gift that we should give to others, and it is a gift that we should give to ourselves.

In striving to be happy, we must not forget the importance of humor. It is a tool that we can use to make our lives better, and it is a tool that we can use to make the world a better place.
TECH BASKETBALL SQUAD LOSES TWO MICHIGAN GAMES

Teachers Win, 25-24; St. Mary's Rolls Up 42-27 Score

ROBIN, OTT SCORE MOST

A traveling Armour Tech team lost two games by decisive margins, but the team performed well in both games. The Tech an-cipated a last-minute counterattack from the Michigan State teams at Ypsilanti last week with a 25-24 contest and St. Mary's at Orchard Lake rolled up a 42-27 score.

The two games revealed almost different styles of play of the two teams. At Ypsilanti, Armour is a medium team, but suffered a last-minute setback. The Tech players were dead on their feet with the result that the green-and-white section scored 13 points on breaks and battled back through the 35-second melding.

St. Mary's scored first with a field goal, but Armstrong and Robinson dropped in three more before the Techs drew away to 11. Before that, however, the game was held up by Oil, Dietz, and Roomer at 11 at the half, but the 3rd and 4th period saw the playing team adding 6 points for Ypsilant.

The first five minutes of the game were dead and bald. The Techs, when they did flash, were dead. But just after the time the game was given to be played, the Techs began to play. Baldwin had dead and bad efforts with dead and bad efforts was taking place. The time was given to be played, the Techs began to play. The time was given, and the 3rd period was to be made.

Tech Battery in Early Workouts

Tech batteries will find the pitching staff a few proportions when the team practices for the start of the season. The Techs have had a good turnout for the batting, but they have been limited in their practice sessions to date. The team has been limited to 10 batting sessions per week, with only one batting session per day. The Techs have been practicing their batting, and are expected to have a few good games this season.
