June Smith to reign over Homecoming dance tonight

By Joe Ross

A gal whose name sounds like a phoneme, but whose charms are obviously authentic will reign tonight as Homecoming Queen. June Smith—that's her real name—will be the one on the Honour 1 boys this week, and it was no contest. The Krause homecoming is a sweet-eyebrowed brunet.

June, the candidate of the ITSA, and her attendants, Rosetta Ratcliffe of the golf club and Marvyn Hall of Delta Zeta, will be honored during a coronation ceremony at the Homecoming dance at the 15th auditorium.

The girls will have to wait until Monday before they have taken their throne. In the opening solve of this ballroom-door, the Tech twirlers, preceded by clarinet Bob McLaughlin and lambs, will be bidding for approval. A large crowd is expected to watch the game, which will be Tech against another powerful Milwaukee Tech twirlers.

Highlighting the half-time interval will be the presentation of the most Valuable Basketball Player Award for the 1951-52 season to Bob Lauer.

An all-time great in Tech history, Lauer's last year was an all-star and captain and star. He will receive a marooned, high-Carrión ball, another major that he achieved in Tech's 20-0 victory this year.

In a ceremony attendance attending the creation of the Most Valuable Basket Rollers, Tech returned the ball to another member of the Tech's backfield. It was presented to the Tech's backfield. It was presented.

Farr council fights social event

The Illinois Tech Student Association is almost minus one member but week, when the Farr hall council contemplated withdrawing their membership.

A problem arose when the Farr hall council planned a dance to be held December 14. In compliance with the ITSA rule that any social event sponsored by a member of the ITSA be registered with the social committee, Farr hall council proceeded to do this. However, Campus Panels had already reserved the dates from December 13 to 15 for that week.

Since there were no other days on Friday night until the end of the semester, the council asked for the dates to be assigned, but because they could not be assigned.

Farr hall council would like to start promptly at the scheduled time.

Early next week, another date will be assigned.

Students win battle to clear Ogden field of glass and trash

The Technology News campaign for improvement of Ogden field came to an end last week. A special fund of $1000 has been set aside for the renovation of the athletic field. Sonny Weinman, ITT's athletic director, has been put in complete charge of the field and will supervise all work done on it. Sonny accepted the responsibility after a meeting with Raymond J. Sparke, vice-president and treasurer, and C. E. Deskins, dean of students.

The switch in supervision from the department of buildings and grounds to the athletic department followed a storm of protest from students over the dangerous condition of Ogden field. Attempting to fill in holes and low spots, maintenance men had dumped and spread several loads of glass-filled dirt on the grounds. Ogden field is regularly used for IM and IF football in the fall for various baseball practices, IM and IF softball and track in the spring.

A recent attempt to improve the field with 250 yards of dirt only made matters worse, Weinman stated. Because of ignorance on the part of the grounds crew, the dirt was spread to partially cover the glass underlayer. Sonny hopes that his personal supervision will eliminate such mistakes in the future.

Since the field will not be used any more this year, nothing will be done until spring. At that time, additional maintenance will be started, including filling in low spots on the infield and on the bases, repair of the underlayer. Sonny will make little attempt to rake grass on the outfield since that would prevent anyone from using the field for at least a year.

The administration is planning to spend as much money as possible on Ogden field. Within two or three years, Weinman said, a combination center is expected to be established on that ground and, by that time, it is expected that the permanent athletic field will be ready for use.

We can sympathize with the administration for not wanting to lay out large sums of money for Ogden field, but leaving the students entitles without facilities for outdoor sports is inexcusable.

Harvard men drink for relaxation, thrills, taste

Harvard athletes and sons of the wealthy have been among the university's heaviest drinkers, a student study reported.

The conclusions of the thesis, "The Drinking Habits of the Harvard Man," reveal that most students drink on dates because of world tension, they see others doing it, to get a girl, to relax, or for the thrill, the taste. Or just "for the hell of it."

The "College Tumors," an annual humor program, was removed from sale after the dean of students at the University of Illinois objected to the eight-page program, which poked fun at the college officials, to be withdrawn from sale.

In order to "eliminate barriers between fellow students and the student body," a new student organization, "The Fellowship of the Unaffiliated," has been established. The group, which will meet weekly on a Saturday afternoon, will provide a place for students to discuss current events and social issues.

At the University of Virginia, a farce has developed over a new university policy that would put any student on probation if he cuts any class two days before or after a vacation period.

Sad said one student, "I think it's a dirty trick on the people who have been saving their cuts for thanksgiving."

Queen Joan Nehlsen-reigns at Integral Ball

Many happy Technicians left the grand ballroom of the Sherman Hotel last Saturday night thoroughly convinced that Ted Weens has one of the finest dance bands in the land. He played every musical unit to jazz and the crowd loved every note of it. Feature vocalist, Bonnie Ava Slaye, also displayed her whirling abilities in many numbers, including the famous "Heartsongs." During the intermission lovely Joan Nehlsen was crowned Integral queen for 1951. A tall, trim biology major and secretary of the junior class. Joan still finds time for extra-curricular activities. She is president of Sigma Kappa sorority and is praised in her concert, Peter Andrews, a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. Besides all this she still has time to exercise her vocal chords in the girls club, of which she is also president.

She replied that this was one of the greatest thrills of her life and she considers it a great honor to be chosen.

After the coronation, the members of the various fraternities and sororities, together with Joan, formed a grand cavalcade across the campus to dinner in the Student's Union.

Counseling drops

The number of students applying for placement counseling for this semester is down from previous semesters. According to Placement Director Kurt Nosbush, the demand for graduates has not diminished. Appointments for group or individual counseling can still be made. Information regarding this service can be had in the Placement Office, 2886C.

A dead slot...that's this week for Tech cage. Since the three and a half of us are not here, we have the last game to play to be able to keep our hand in.

Sports are not in favor, however. We have a number of seats left in the yearbook for those who wish to fill them.

One of Bob's big advantages was his ability to sell tickets. He would sell tickets to any school, even if he had to bribe the principal to do it.

One of the most interesting stories is the one about the local school. When the principal refused to sell tickets, Bob went to the principal's house and sold them directly to the principal's wife.

A dry shot on offense, an ever-watchful hue on defense, that's this week's Campus Wheel, Bob McCue. For the past three and a half years Bob has been one of the mainstays of his activities on the basketball court. McCue has been successful in connecting with the boys, having been elected president of the junior class and treasurer of the senior class. He has also been active in varsity activities, including a tryout for all-america honors and serving as student body president.

The Shu U Stomp, an all-school dance sponsored by the Student Union, will begin January 11 in the student auditorium. One of the major events will be theballoting for the Student Union council members. Candidates will be invited and transported to the campus. The council will be responsible for organizing all-school events and programs.

Hixson tells of resignation as assistant
Ernest Hixson, assistant to the dean of students, announced his resignation this week. He told of having been forced out of his job. For the past semester he had been assistant to the dean of students. He had been with the school for four years.

Reactions on campus were sharp and quick. Most believed that he was being forced out. A few thought that it was simply a case of a teacher resigning. Both groups agreed that he was well liked and a source of support for the student body.

DT’s tie Lugs 6-6 to win IM football championship

Once again in IM championship was decided by a last-second and disputed kick. The final was played between the Lugs and DT’s ending in a 6-6 tie. After the rain which played against the weather conditions, the DT’s safety proved to be the key in the game as they scored 6 points. The Lugs had a chance to win the game, but were unable to convert a field goal attempt. The DT’s defense was strong, allowing the Lugs to score only 6 points. The game was full of action and excitement, making it a memorable match for both teams.

From Where I Sit

By Len Kahan

There was an interesting item in the Wake of the News column on Tuesday. It seems that on December 4, 1941, the Illinois Institute of Technology sponsored a basketball game to benefit a new field house and gymnastics. It was ten years ago and we are still waiting for the gym and field house. We probably have to wait another ten years before we see them. (We hope.)

The basketball team started out in high gear as they overpowered the University of Chicago 85-44. They played a brilliant defense and scored 31 points in the fourth quarter. The game was a high-scoring affair, with the Illini outscoring the Maroons 41-17 in the final quarter.

This is the first match of the season between Illinois Tech and the University of Chicago. The Illini have a strong team this year, led by senior captain and high scorer Bob Lauer. They should be a good team and are sure to have a good showing and pace old "pillar palace."

There was an interesting sidelight in the Chicago game. Thestarting guard for the U of C was Ed Jennings, former sports editor of Chicago Daily News and a recent graduate of Illinois Tech. I’m sure that when they play Chicago at home, we will have a warm welcome for Ed and his mates.

ITWA holds volleyball tournament; coeds win

Something new has been added to the Minnesota State University sports calendar. The ITWA (Illinois Tech Women’s Athletic Club) held its first volleyball tournament on Saturday, with 12 teams participating. The tournament was held in the newly constructed gymnasium, and it was a huge success. The coeds won the championship, beating the men’s team in the final match. The tournament was a great opportunity for the players to showcase their skills and have some friendly competition. The ITWA plans to hold more tournaments in the future, and it is exciting to see the growth of women’s sports at Illinois Tech.
Homecoming set, dance will follow

Out for their third win in a row, "General" Glancy's first and second placeouts do battle Dutchman's team in Illini's biggest Homecoming game.

Illinois fans will remember the games between these two teams as filled with spirit, pageantry and high scores. "Big George" Holmackers buried 34 points through the first half, but Illinois' virtual scorecard that still stands.

Last year's contests with Tech were again terrific crowd getters with nearly $5,000 in attendance for both games. Tech took the first one for a score of 76-69, then dropped the return game 76-66.

The 1943-48 squad gave promise of being one of Tech's best. Last Saturday they ran up 15 points, a new school record, against a belligerent Chicago squad, with 12 Tech players breaking the score record.

On Wednesday they continued their winning ways, beating Nebraska Wesleyan 85-62, spelling the Comets' middle western debut.

Tough the home team is a loss and if the "second platoon" is in good form, Tech will get plenty of excitement. This last bunch has been hard to find and has been led by Tom Goralski, nearly the MVP of the league, and in general by outreaching the teams. Almost all the key players are expected to show up.

The first place team features high scoring "Little Joe" Byrner and Archie Goins. This quintet proved flashes of well played brilliance that were indeed a treat to watch. Their average height is 6'7," and they can really tear up the floor in the back.

The game, a dance will be held in the Student Union. For only a buck and a quarter, a Tech game can bring in a nice sum of money for the dance fund, and pick up a top team. Students are admitted to the game free.

Start wrestling tomorrow against Marquette Catholicmen

Tomorrow the wrestling team will officially open its season against Marquette University. The grapplers are looking forward to this meet with great optimism due to the closeness of last year's contest with the Marquette's. The meet will be held on site and will start at 11 a.m. with wrestling matches starting at 12:30.

Another reason for the excitement of the wrestling is the outcome of last Friday's perfect meet with Navy Pier. The team, though handicapped by two forfeits, brought in the weight class between the Marquette and all the others.

The meet will be held on the University of Illinois Tech gym at 11 a.m. Admission is free and everyone is invited to attend.
