Annual Christmas concert Thursday

The music club will present their Christmas program at 12:30 p.m., Thursday, in the SU auditorium. More than 100 Techs will participate in this program. Each club, glee club, orchestra and concert band, will feature numbers written by "the boys". The concert consists of "Signs of Christmas" and "Christmas Festival".

More than 1,500 copies of the Technology Center Directory were sold as of Tuesday. Sales of the remaining copies will continue next week in the SU ticket booth between the hours of 12 noon and 5 p.m. daily. At 90, sales are being handled at the bookstores.

The Directory lists the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of the 3,000 students at Technology Center and 12. Listings of all personnel is also included. Information, such as listings of all phone numbers, campus mail boxes, fraternity phones, and a list of names addresses of the non-Chicago students is included in this publication.

While paper stock is used for personnel listings and beige stock is used for student listings, in spite of increased costs of printing, the savings made must far exceed the costs for 25 cards.

Any organization desiring copies for its members should contact M. C. Lefkowitz as soon as possible. This newsletter, as previously, all non-student members of the staff are invited, to illustrate the mailing of Christmas cards.

Urge students to vote at elections next week

Next Wednesday and Thursday the lobby outside the SU auditorium will be the scene of the annual election for student body elections. Voting will be conducted at SU on Thursday. All-full time students (carrying 10 hours or more) are eligible to vote.

The voting will be as follows: First semester students will vote for their freshmen class officers who will represent them during the next semester.

Fourth and sixth semesters will vote for both junior and senior class officers, respectively, both of which will serve for the next year. Third, fifth, seventh and eighth semesters will vote for class officers for the next year. There are four positions open: the president, vice president, secretary and treasurer.

All full-time students (carrying 10 hours or more) will vote for the student body officers. The results of the election will be announced at the appropriate meeting.

ITSA is accepting JWOH job bids

The ITSA Board of Control is now accepting applications for top positions in the Junior Week-Open House committee.

Faculty rating slips issued by honoraries

Faculty rating slips will be given out over the next few weeks to the Junior Week-Open House committee. The purpose of these slips is to give the students the opportunity to rate their teacher's teaching method. The slips are strictly confidential and the only person who will see the results of the survey is the instructor. The rating slip is not an evaluation of how well a student understands the subject matter, but rather an indication of the instructor's teaching effectiveness.

The 13 sororities and fraternities sponsoring the Christmas party for the children of the Ada S. McKinley house are working diligently to make it a success. Chairman Al Savia is working to make sure that all of the children will receive gifts.

Only encouraging remarks are left for the children who have not enough money to buy the present they want. Many children have been able to purchase gifts through the generosity of their leaders and community.

The Student Union Program committee has plans for the future, including a family dance to be held in the SU auditorium on Dec. 21. Students are invited to come and enjoy the fun.

Homecoming policy criticized by irate student

To the Editor:

Due the second straight year Honor has been caught off-side. Their attempt to move into prominence and establish itself on the Illini campus is faltering. The mistakes made were both basic and obvious: (1) the scheduling of Homecoming week with the other TBA activities and the Integral ball; (2) a generally poor publicity job; (3) a questionable basis for choice of queen and court; (4) an indifferent attitude toward generally accepted policy.

The first mistake could easily have been avoided. Last year's integral ball was held Nov. 4, with the Homecoming following on Dec. 7. This seems madness, just as the cramming of the fall season's two big events into one short week.

The second mistake, of necessity, follows the first. In order to compete with something like the homecoming, a tokenistic effort was made to launch the Integral ball. This was not done. The big push came the week of the event, and we were completely out国家战略 late.

This is the thing they envision as being tremendous, something to hold in the hands of the students. Unfortunately, their intentions are of the best, their abilities seem to be woefully lacking. This is not all misunderstandings, but let it be said at this point that despite this effort the Integral ball was just the most disappointing event of the year. They packed for the dance, and the homecoming, but the procession, the queen, the pageant was a complete failure.

The queen [name], however, can not be overlooked. Last year's note-to-note was an unforgettable queen. She was quite a bubbly, General shoulder while all others were the drop of entries in low last year to a more this year. People demanded the same quality for this year, but Honor I refused to impart this information.

Blindly disregarding the mistakes of their predecessors, these students for the first time in history have won an all pressure for the homecoming. Their final brainstorm was to have a general election in which the student body would select its own queen and court. This plan met with the approval of the administration, and the all-electronic system was installed.

Bazaar or ball? Students doubtful

To the Editor:

I hear that the Integral ball was quite the affair. Unfortunately, the small group of us that sat down to discuss the event were not aware of it. We were too interested in the patroons of the bazaar. Bazaar?!!! I have never heard of such a combination. The bazaars of years past, all with matching content, were disregarded by Honor. The idea of having a queen and court, of course, would be a problem. All contests are invaded by the bazaar as a whole. Their methodologies made the preferences of the student more than likely unimportant. According to one planner, the issues of the queen's planning were not adequately discussed. In the planning of such an event, all emphasis should be placed on the bazaar. We are not interested in having a queen, but rather in having a bazaar. We want to keep the focus on the bazaar. If we must have a queen, let her be one of the bazaar's planners, not one of the organizers.

I hear that the financial end of the ball was handled quite well. This was probably due to the fact that many Tech individuals are familiar with the layout of the facilties at the Civic Center. I'm not that familiar with the Civic Center, but I dislike sitting out a show in the lobby.

In spite of all my complaints, my group had a splendid time. In conclusion, I should like to suggest that, in the future, the committee secure a place that will seat the entire group in one room.

R.W. Wadeson

Is more praise due to winners?

To the Editor:

After reading the article on the 17 November game between the DT's and the Lugs, my anger and sympathy for the DT's forced me to write this letter.

I feel that Glazewski's decision seems like an act of kindness instead of a legitimate decision. Since when is one less than no loss in any competitive sport? After reading the record of the DT's I would say they, without any doubt, deserved to win. What other teams won all their games and by such high scores as 49-0? You can't tell me the Lugs did this simply because of the poor condition of the field. If so, why don't you play the DT's again as a proof? You mentioned in your article that the game ended with a score of 49-0. What makes you think they wouldn't have been held there? I say them very close to having a couple of other touchdowns but having to make 3 touchdown conversions before they could get in the end zone.

I have been reading the sports column since the beginning of the season. I never saw a paper that praises and glorifies the losing teams. The DT's were the better team. How about giving the people who worked hard for their glory the praise they deserve? Let's not be prejudiced; give praise and glory where it is due.

Applaud Campus Players' 3-act; last performance tomorrow night

by Dale McElroy

Last night the curtain rose on the first Tech presentation of "Hello, Dolly," a gay and amusing comedy by Philip Barry. The production gave Barry at his best. The author had something to say, and the cast very capably said it.

The play, presented by Campus Players, was directed by Henry Knepper with the assistance of Valerie Backenrude and produced by Roger Bille. It is a story of a multimillionaire Tony D'@rosa, played by Edward Selon, who is played by Paul Fox. The daughters Julia and Linda are played by R. A. Rodgers and Saul Ann Jones. Who is the beginning of the play is engaged in a duel at the end is married to Linda. It is very shabby played by Fred Shively.

The acting of Art Blankfort, James K. Reimus, John B Frumentz, Ethel Hamlin and George Winters in participating Nick and Susan Priester, Selon and Laura Creas, and Ned Reims is superb. The family servants are played by Fred Shively, Jim Fitzgerald, and Alan H. They are most deserves commendation and the work that has been put into the play and the job done by the actors in bringing Philip Barry's "Hello, Dolly" is not to be lauded. Don't forget the next two performances that will be given at 8:30 tonight and tomorrow night.

Tickets are available at the box office.

THE DU PONT DIGEST

M.E.'s at DU PONT [3]

Plant engineering and production supervision offer interesting careers for science graduates

In the past two issues of the Digest you've read of the broad opportunities that are offered to chemical engineers in research and development work at Du Pont.

This month let's look at opportunities for men interested in any of the branches of plant engineering—such as maintenance, power design and construction—or in production supervision.

Efficient maintenance is an important cost factor in the continuous processes of a modern chemical industry. The M. E. is called upon to diagnose troubles, work out corrective measures, and supervise repairs.

Frequently he increases production by developing preventive maintenance measures. So vital is this work that in one division of the Company, 500 men of all crafts, along with a routine maintenance group, are assigned all their time to it.

One example of the problems facing Du Pont engineers in the maintenance of pumps made to tolerances of 0.001" and operating at pressures up to 6000 p.s.i.

In power work, also, problems requiring application of mechanical-chemical principles arise. For instance, a metal required in one chemical process is melted at 800° F. by immersion heaters fixed by engineers, which are expensive. Conversion to a fuel oil presentat the problem of complete combustion in the immersion heater. Du Pont M. E.'s have designed the heater so combustion Production supervision attracts many chemical engineers. Men who have the ability and interest usually move into it by one or two steps: they acquire background on all stages of a plant's operations by helping design the plant, or by operating on the job.

Sor identifying themselves with mechanical engineering they will be overshadowed by chemical personnel. This is not the case at Du Pont. Here, hundred of administrative and supervisory, up to the rank of vice-president, started as M. E.'s.

Opportunities for men and women with many types of training are described in the 50-page bulletin "Du Pont Company and the College Student." For your free copy, address 2213 DuPont, Wilmington, Del.
Two vie for member-at-large positions

JOEL MURHIC

The main duty of the junior member-at-large, in addition to representing the student body on the ITSA Board of Control, is to act as chairman of ITSA's social chairman's committee. Illinois Tech, even considering the fact that it is a small car college, has not yet succeeded in attaining the standard of social activities which it could.

It is up to the junior member-at-large to see that the main, social functions are succeed, not only financially but also to the individuals who attend them. In order to achieve this goal the junior member must be familiar with the student government.

After working with our social committee on these projects for the past year, I believe that the running of the coming year can be greatly advanced toward the realization of the capabilities of our school.

I am elected, I shall strive to achieve the greatest possible improvement in the social affairs and our student government.

JAY POTTS

Senior Candidate:

"Exponent," aside from its algebraic significance, means one who represents the ideals and principles of the group. That is the purpose of the Exponent party. We intend to represent the class accordingly to your views.

The major problems which will confront your class officers are: (1) good representation on the ITSA Board of Control; (2) a senior farewell that will be memorable, yet not too costly; and (3) most for your class in fulfilling these goals are: Jack Foster for president; Roger Sakas, vice-president; John Peck, secretary; Bill Pulver, treasurer; and Jim Anderson, social chairman.

Good representation on ITSA, a never-to-be-forgotten senior farewell, and effective cooperation between class officers and students are offered by your party, the Exponent.

Junior Candidate:

During the past year our class has had no social functions or representation of any kind on ITSA. Because Tech has so few activities as it is, our class is responsible for compensating for what we can, and in doing so, everything has a lot of fun. We all like fun, don't we?

We also need financial backing. Our budget was small to begin with, and it is even smaller now due in circumstances. We shall try to keep up on what we can, but a warm social function with a minimum fee per person. We shall try to have a warm social function to do the job the way it is.

The King is the party that promoted the biggest idea. But it probably was a better idea for money (free) than the other idea. Thanks to ITSA for divvying it up to us.

Held Roth: Local gents just don't seem to realize how much Tech is still being played. The talk for Tech baseball and the other side of "class feeling" are still being played. However, I've been thinking about Tech and have been thinking about Tech. I don't claim to change the system, but I think with some cooperation that I can improve the situation.

My running mate is...
Five favorite freshmen fight furious fracas

Jim Salopatas:
Our platform for the election is composed of three main points and we call it the Three Point Plan. It is to provide representation for the freshman class in the student government and to work for the safety and better social functions for the freshman class. With this plan we hope to encourage all eligible freshmen to get into the polls and vote. "Double T" - the True Tech party, the party which will make, with good student backing, a freshman class of which Tech can be proud.

Low Roth:
(To the editor) Here at Tech definitely leaves something to be desired. There has been too much talk about Tech being a "second-rate college" and that there is little "class feeling" among the students in that body. However, nothing has been done about it up until the present time.

I don't care to know how to change this system overnight, but with some cooperation I believe that I can improve the present situation.

My running mate - Bill Anemos, vice-president; Janie Ream, secretary; Jerry Gordon, treasurer; and Larry Gordon, social chairman, also agree that social affairs could be improved upon.

We feel that the school spirit could be raised to a higher level if there were more social affairs.

All in all, I am running for the presidency of the freshman class in an effort to represent you to the best of my ability at the meeting of the ITSA board of central. For a fair administration and one that will work for the class: Low Roth, Bill Anemos, Janie Ream, Jerry Gordon, and Larry Gordon.

Wes Herbols:
Our aim is to make the Tech student feel that he is as much a part of ITSA as his elected representatives in that body. We feel that ITSA students are not given enough information on the functions of this governing body. It is our belief that a summary of each ITSA meeting should be published in Techology News.

Our candidates are Wes Herbols for president, Frank Herberger for vice-president, Bank Dinzl for treasurer, Laura Waller for secretary, and Mickey Malole for social chairman.

We intend to be of service to our class and to produce tangible results, rather than to merely make high-sounding promises which are never intended to be kept. Our program includes more and better freshman social functions, such as picnics and dances.

The enthusiasm of our campaign should be indicative of our capability of putting forth the effort to bring our platform to active reality.

Here are candidates

Following is a complete list of candidates for the election Tuesday through Thursday:

Class of Jan. '54

President: Janie Ream
Vice Presidency: Billy Anemos
Secretary: Janie Ream
Treasurer: Larry Gordon

Class of Jun. '53

President: Low Roth
Vice President: Wes Herbols
Treasurer: John Philips
Secretary: Janie Ream

Class of Jul. '53

President: Bill Anemos
Vice President: Wes Herbols
Treasurer: John Philips
Secretary: Janie Ream

Palmquist unopposed for Jan. '55

I am a candidate for president of the second semester, My party consists of Len Geis for vice-president, Don Petock for treasurer, Marlyn Call for secretary, and June Smith for social chairman.

We are interested in all sides of school, campus, and social activities. Our aim is to better these activities through participation in these fields.

We do not make any promises which will be broken after the elections are over. But instead, we shall say nothing; and when we are elected we shall give you action.

Tech takes first place in regatta

At an impromptu regatta held Sunday in which Illinois Tech was host to Northwestern, University of Chicago, and University of Illinois, the Techawks took the lead and easily maintained it throughout the entire regatta. Brian Preiser of Tech, won skipper, taking third and second place, and Bob Haines from ITF taking two first places and two second places.

There was a maximum of 50 points possible and ITF managed to take 17 of them in prove that they can do better than they did last year.

Final results were:

ITF ............ 17
Northwesterns ............ 27
University of Chicago ............ 29

Chris Andreos:
No blinding flashes, no thunderous noises, just efficient action. That's what the Freedom Party stands for.

"Freedom party? Freedom from what?" you ask. I'll tell you. Freedom from a "second-rate college." You residents are well aware of what we mean by a "second-rate college.

"Freedom party! Freedom from what you like! I'll tell you! Freedom from a "second-rate college.""

We do so not to disappoint you. This appeal for your vote has been, I think, straightforward and frank. I have it; it is the intelligibility of your vote to distinguish between fiery press campaign promises which cannot be kept, and the above statement of policy.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 29... THE ITENA

Hysteria reigned from the moment he heard the details of those quick-lick cigarette milleness tests. First he giggled... then he guffawed... wound-up rolling in the aisle! He knew that the "single mill" test or the "one pull" test didn't prove anything! Millions of smokers have reached the same conclusion there is just one test that really proves cigarette flavor and mildness.

It's the sensible test... the 30-day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camel as your steady smoke — on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've enjoyed Camel for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Trachea), you'll see why...

Unbeaten cagers seek fifth win, meet Concordia at home Tuesday

Glancy's Gladiators play their last game before the holidays as they play Concordia on Tuesday. The boys on the team would like to go into the Christmas vacation undefeated and thus are taking no chances with this one.

The Tech wins last year, 20-13, on a 15-foot hook shot by Howard at the last second.

Meet Concordia at home Tuesday

by Bob Abrams

The fifth annual Illinois Tech Prep Basketball tournament will be held in the International Amphitheater beginning Friday, Dec. 21. Thirty-five teams will take to the floor during the Christmas holidays to vie for the championship.

The tournament will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 21. The two games played that night will decide who will be four coveted trophies and individual awards. A staff of sports writers will choose the tournament all star team and will also select the most valuable player.

Last year, Harvey Bamberger, high scoring center for the Mound Builders, was the recipient of this honor.

It was he who led his team to the championship in last year's thrilling contest. Von Schmidt batted McGillie down the line, with the Panther forays turning victorious in a wild sudden death double overtime by the margin of 57-55. Nine Vaux took Floren's spot for the percentage marks to the tune of 81 to 67. These four teams are the only ones selected in this year's competition.

In order to facilitate the run-off of the single elimination tournament, six teams will play a preliminary round on Friday night. The three teams eliminated will reduce the field to thirty-two who will then play in the afternoon and evening of December 31, 71, and 77. Quarter finals will be held on the 31st, semifinals on the 30th and the finals on the 29th. The tournament will feature 119 games.

Many strong teams will all their players for the first time in the history of this tournament, the Tech Tournament as on page 3.

Honor 1 to show movies on Tuesday

For the third time this season, Honor 1 will show a program selected from the many athletic events that will be shown at 1 p.m. Tuesday in 131 ML.

Once again, Honor 1 has obtained pictures which are of interest to the general public. This week's program will be identical to the one shown last week, with Football Night of 1950 and the Purdue squat shown.

The program packs as much interest as the regional games, as the Bears Brown and the Harlem Globetrotters movie.

The Cardinal movie is good for two reasons. First, all of the games are highly interesting and exciting and filling football action. Second, it shows the Cardinals to be in their prime.

In his third year at the alma mater, the coach of the football team, Coach J. H. Reaves, has placed a large emphasis on fundamentals. The result has been a season of high expectations.

From Where I Sit

By Len Kohan

With four games under their belt the Illinois Tech basketball team go into Tuesday's game against Concordia with four wins to show for the season and the boys hope to make it five in a row at the expense of the Cougars. After this game there will be a short vacation in which time the team can watch the Chicago Public high schools play ball in the Illinois Tech Tournament, or else maybe catch a bit of hot that back lab report or test.

January 3 will see the quintet return to the hardwood as they go to Milwaukee to meet Concordia. After having left the Panthers practically in the ground in their last game, they have come through with this one. But you can never tell. I think that the man worry that will face the squad in the next five games remaining this semester will be overconfidence more than anything else. Maybe if the Tech stops reading their own headlines things would be better.

Another seldom heard from team started their season with a solid win over Marquette University. Showing much improvement over their practice sessions the grunts and groaners came through to defeat Marquette in their opener and tomorrow will compete in the Navy Pier meet, where they finished second last year.

Intramural basketball is in full swing already and it looks as if this will be the best season in quite a while. There are many more "good" than there have been in previous years. With only one league instead of the many small divisions as in previous years, the grunts will be able to play quite a few more games than they have been the custom. So look for a good, long season in which the winner will make defeat more than a couple times.

Swimmers open 51-52 season tomorrow

by Keith Carter

In the first swimming meet of the season, the Tech quads met the University of Wisconsin Engineering College squad tomorrow in Appleton, Wisconsin. The Tech quads hope to avenge their defeat at the hands (and feet) of Lawrence at the end of the season last year. However, the squad will miss both backstroker and flyer (page 11) as they applied for "Golden Arrow" averaging the first half of the season.

Honor 2: "Chief" McCray led the Tech point with six points and four varsity times for event prize in the pool. He won the top honors with Illinois Engineering's Fred C. Steude, who beat him five sets and wound up the right with eleven ties.
Matmen capture first meet; top Marquette U

Tomorrow the Techhawk grapplers participate in the pre-season wrestling tournament conducted annnually by the University of Illinois. Eight teams are entered and the tournament will be two two-hour rounds.

Illinois Normal and Wheaton, however, the Techhawks, who were runners-up last year, are going to have plenty to say on this occasion.

The Techhawks' first three bouts were won and never hved the possibility of losing as they applied the step and the "Golden Avenue" technique to the advantage of Marquette university.

Tomorrow the first three tech's were the first of three tech's to be named.

Coach Tony Dabrowa was very pleased with the team's showing, especially that of the new men on the squad. These men are working Tony as happy here.

Bob Mathews, who, while wrestling his first college match, competed in individual and team events.

The match was won by the Techhawks with 123 points.

Wild Bill Babbage lives up to his name as he also led the blocks to his opponent, pinning the tags in the second period.

Ed Grubich fought hard but in vain as he wound up with his shoulders on the mat in the 140-pound match.

Co-Captain Al Siegel accounted for the victory in a string of wins.

In another match the Techhawks had little difficulty in defeating Boden's Boys 20-17.

Once again the basketball fever has risen to plague all buckeye-minded Techhawks. As a result, the IM competition has swung into high gear. The four games were played in these contexts were:

Home eco's provide atmosphere for IIT
by Adon Gordich

Women, women, everywhere... that's the situation in the home economics department. Since Sept. 1950, when the HE department became exclusively situated on the Tech campus, the presence of these women has contributed much to the general "atmosphere" of our campus.

Why would these girls ever want to major in home economics when there are other interesting departments such as EEL, CE, and PPE? The reason is partially given in the pupils' bulletin distributed by HE to prospective students.

They ask, "What can we ever do with a degree in home economics when we can't even get a job?" In fact, we've seen women who majored in home economics get married after graduation and then worked as housewives.

The majority of these students are from the Midwest, particularly from Illinois. Many of them have had some previous experience in the field and are looking for a career in home economics.

The home economics department offers a wide variety of courses, from cooking and baking to interior design and fashion design. Students can choose from a variety of electives, and many of them go on to pursue careers in these fields.

The department also offers opportunities for students to get hands-on experience through internships and co-op programs. Many of these students go on to work in the field after graduation.
