Maroon editor fired as administration sees red

A student newspaper recently was forced to suspend publication because its editor attended the East Berlin youth rally this summer. University of Chicago's dean of students, Robert Stromer, fired Edine Alg D. Kimmell and suspended publication of the "Chicago Maroon," in a letter to Kimmell, Dean Stromer wrote, "I find it necessary to remove you immediately from the editorship of the Maroon. Your action in sponsoring and attending the East Berlin Youth Festival demonstrates your lack of qualification to edit a free independent newspaper." "After the publication of the October 5th issue of the Maroon, publication is suspended until the Student Government has acted on the recommendation of a new editor." Brother Lewis W. Stromer was justifiably in firing Kimmell for attending a Communist rally, we cannot decide on the decision we were able to gather. We do know that suspending publication of a newspaper because its editor attended meetings in East Berlin, and, therefore, reflecting the rest of the staff of Communistism, is completely unsatisfying, un-democratic, and unnecessary.

A little over a week ago, the Maroon was allowed to publish a public statement after it had missed one of its issues. The notice came from Dean Stromer without any explanation and apparently was the result of an opposition from the student body to the administration policy.

The staff of the Maroon, in the meantime, had issued a fact sheet, giving all the facts in the case and pointing out that 15 of the 20 student body rights, which guarantees the rights to establish and issue publications of any censorship or other pressure aimed at controlling editorial policy. The staff had agreed to publish only illegal issues.

Student opinion, in general, seems to oppose Stromer's action in suspending publication of the Maroon. Some students felt that the reason given was not the real reason for suspending the paper. There was criticism of the Maroon, but the reason was against a student body, in a letter to the editor.

The administration of the University of Chicago has acted very arbitrarily in suspending the Maroon. We feel that Dean Stromer should explain his actions.

SLIPSTICK

The Goldnord, Wayne State Teachers College, Nebraska, is a hit fed up with certain types of male dancers. Here are the types:

Henry the Hymn
He had a girl to dance as if he were Louis B. Mayer asking a starlet to star in a million dollar picture extravaganzas. While working his partner back and forth like a yo-yo, he is constantly speaking in a lisp of Jive jargon.

Baldfaced Bill
Bill feels terribly embarrassed and the only excuse he can think of is that he just washed his face and can't do a thing with them.

Lucy the Lover
She may be used to commit but went to a psychiatrist and was cured. Now he is the nicest guy a woman will ever meet. Even if someone doesn't give up to this character, he is liable to love himself to death.

Social pressure causes alienation of the arts

by Jim Splinger

"Many students have little interest in the arts because the social pressure to which they are subjected leads them to believe that only those who are successful in the arts are accepted by society."

"They look at the success of their peers, and feel that they should be doing something similar. This leads them to believe that if they are not successful in the arts, they are not acceptable to society."

"This type of pressure leads to alienation of the arts, and this is why we have so few students interested in the arts."

All team sports to have new rosters

It has been announced by the IM sports programs in basketball, swimming, wrestling, boxing, and soccer that the team sports will have new rosters for the upcoming season.

The Tech's winter sport programs are in preparation for the coming season, and they will be having new rosters for basketball, swimming, wrestling, boxing, and soccer. The IM sports programs will be restructured, and new rosters will be announced.

Al Brandmuck first Prophets winner

Ed Kevles

Well, the first week's talkers are in and the man to be congratulated for his excellent performance is Al Brandmuck, a competitor in the new term IM. His winning card showed eight correct and a total score of 96.

The meeting, attended by Ed Glancy, IM director, and Sonny Weissman, IM media director, was held in the Tech's main gymnasium.

The Prophets, traditionally one of the stronger teams in the IM sports programs, held the competition this year. The meeting was well attended, and the atmosphere was one of excitement.

Gratuity Football

by Ed Braut

Fraternity Football has been inaugurated by two sharp ball men, who have just completed a season which will typify IF competition the year. The curtain raiser on Monday found Delta Nu Delta tipped 15-0 against Sigma Phi.

The Skull House needed some of the ball for their own grid machine as they were scored 20-0. Ron Stier was the sparkler for the Skulls as they legged it up 5-0. All night long the Skulls kept pouring in the points, and the final score was 20-0.

The game was a notable event in the history of IF, and it is expected that the Skulls will continue to be a force to be reckoned with in the future.

The Skulls' performance was nothing short of brilliant, and they emerged victorious with an impressive score.

In another exciting game, the Phi Kappas of Ohio State University scored a convincing 5-0 victory over Sigma Phi. The Phi Kappas exhibited great teamwork and coordination throughout the game, leading to their well-deserved win.

Every normal football game is a battle between two teams, but in this case, it was a battle of the minds. The Phi Kappans' strategy and tactics were flawless, as they outplayed the Sigma Phis in every aspect of the game.

The result was a resounding victory for the Phi Kappans, who emerged as the winners with a solid 5-0 victory over Sigma Phi.
Gremlins lead IM football; Six teams still underrated

With the end of the second week of intramural football at a close, the strongest teams are beginning to make their bids for the Technology News sponsored Slide Rule Bowl. This climax to the IM-17 football season will be held on November 25.

On Tuesday, the Co-ops faced off against the Blazers. The leaders of the victors were Don Boehr and Al Pulh. Boehr intercepted a Blazer pass and set up the first touchdown. He then passed the ball to Ray Immelacker for the score. A short pass to Pulh for the extra point made the score 8-0.

Nothing more was scored until after half-time when the Co-ops came back to life. Al Pulh caught a Blazer pass and went over, making the score 15-0. The Blazer gave up a little sport of life as they converted an intercepted pass into a touchdown, but were soon punched back when Pulh ripped off a 50-yarder.

As of today, the standings of the football teams are as follows:

Pulhת another rush of the passing and lateral off for the final score. Yesterday one more game played as the red-hot Gremlins spilled over the Green Horns by the score of 46-0. In the other scheduled game, the Little Bears won as a walkover easy one when the Trains forfeited. This forfeiture automatically eliminates the Trains from the league.

The first playoffs in the IM tennis tournaments have been played off. Half of the original entrants have been eliminated, and the second round matches are to be completed by next week. Weather permitting, the winner will be announced in the November 2 issue of Technology News.

From Where I Sit
By Len Kohan

Something has finally been done about the overloading that has been prevalent on many of the teams that take part in the intramural sports program.

After much consideration by IM director Ed Glancy, athletic director Sonny Wessman, and yours truly, it was decided that intramural teams will be composed of members of the same department or else two or more smaller departments.

The results of last year's IM basketball campaign show how two or three teams completely dominated the play. Thus many teams were undoubtedly stopped from entering because they knew they "wouldn't have a chance." It is hoped that the new rules will bring an end to "powerhouse" teams and make the IM teams more evenly balanced.

Basketball has finally arrived back on campus as coach Ed Glancy starts getting his boys in shape for the coming season. At the present time about sixty boys are out for the squad. But after the first week of practice a cut will be made to reduce the squad to a more manageable size.

A great many freshmen have shown interest in the team and if the quality of their play warrants it, a freshman team will be formed and carry a schedule of about ten games with other freshman teams from the Illinois area.

Every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon from 2 to 2 intramural football games are held. If you enjoy watching a good football game go out and see these contests on the Chapel field. Also, in the evening, the interfraternity league has football games scheduled every night at 4 p.m. So if you haven't a class at four go over and see some hard-fought contests.
