The scholarship committee recommends that students not receive financial assistance submit applications, unless they are qualified for a particular scholarship. A $2.50 average is required unless the applicant has special qualifications; in that case a 2.75 average is necessary.

Gripe Box Will Get Trial When Complaints Come In

by Bob Zollner

The printing of student complaint forms, which are to be handled by the student investigating committee, has moved the IIT student one step further toward gaining a legitimate “gripe box.” The printing of the forms leaves only the placing of the said receptacle as a necessary step for the initiation of the student investigating system. As Technology News went to press, this “gripe box” had not been placed in the SU lobby.

With the mechanics of the system set up, it remains to be tested to see if it will really work. Such a test would involve an IIT student filing a mature complaint which is dealt with by the Technology News office.

The administration, faculty, or student representative involved in at least a mature manner as the complaint was originally registered.

Whether the representative-administration-faculty end of such a system works or not, it must be assumed innocent until proven guilty. In other words, the Monday morning quarterbacks, locker room critics, and 10 a.m. Secretary Watchers’ Association members must take the first step (that is, when the missing tread—the “gripping box” is finally placed on the rise).

Submit Political Photos by May 4

Persons running for positions on the ISEA Board of Control who wish to have their pictures appear in the Technology News election issue of Friday, May 8, should submit their photos to the Technology News office by 5 p.m., Monday, May 4.

If the candidates have no suitable picture available for publication, they may arrange to have a picture taken by the Technology News photographer. The charge for this picture will be one dollar.

Following the publication of the election issue a proof of the picture taken by our photographer will be available in the Technology News office.

Beats’ Have No Justifiable Claim to Public’s Attention

The recent visits of the famous “Beat world” to Chicago raise once again the questions of what are Beats and what do they do? The former question becomes interesting when it is asked if they are not merely a phase, a fashion, a temporary reaction to the status quo. Modern youth may be looking for an answer to the problem of how to live in a society which is changing so rapidly.

The Beats, however, do not simply seek release from a society which is too fast for them. They are seeking not only a return to the past, but also a new kind of society. They are looking for a society which is more human, more tolerant, more understanding.

The Beats’ philosophy is based on the idea that man is free to choose his own way of life. They believe that the individual should be free to pursue his own interests, to express himself, and to live as he pleases. They believe that society should be more democratic, more accepting of diversity, and more tolerant of different ways of life.

The Beats are certainly one of the most interesting and controversial movements of our time. They are a group of young people who are trying to find their way in a world that is changing too rapidly. They are a group of people who are challenging the Establishment, and they are a group of people who are making a difference. They are the Beats, and they are here to stay.

Workman Questions Honor System, Favors Mies' Recall

by Randy Workman

"I am dubious about having an honor system installed at Tech," says English professor Dr. Samuel Workman. "In an honor system there arises a problem concerning two types of people. A person with many friends is not likely to report anyone for a breach of the honor system, while the student with few friends will have no compunctions about reporting people he doesn't know."

"Then there is a conflict between the former and the latter type of student. This conflict is not conducive to a good college atmosphere. If the honor system is adopted, I would rather it be a voluntary one instead of a compulsory one."

When asked about the plans for the improvement of the physical plant of the school, Dr. Workman said, "The new buildings give a feeling of modern life to the campus."

Wants Mies Back

"The rebuilding of the campus seems to be progressing nicely, however, I would like to see Mies van der Rohe back here to complete the job. I feel that some of the spirit of the project went with him. Outside parties are criticizing Tech for its part in the case of his absence."

Workman's appraisal of campus literature came next. He had this to say about Techno News: "I am quite satisfied with the policy that Techno News has exhibited to the past few years. I hope it continues in the same vein."

Advocates Writing Course

Dr. Workman advocates the formation of a writing course. "People with the potentiality should have an opportunity to develop their talents. Under the guidance of a teacher backed up by specialized curricula this development is possible."

Will Give Polio Shots May 12

Free polio shots will be available from 1 to 3 p.m. on Tuesday, May 12, in the Student Union Auditorium. Students donating any of the four soft-serve shots will be given them without cost as a service of the Chicago Board of Health.

Students under 21 who have not previously received shots at Illinois Tech during mass inoculations by the Board of Health must obtain polio cards from the Dean of Students' Office.

Campaigning for Student Offices Begins May 8

Campaigning for the ITSA and class officer elections will begin Friday, May 8, when the platforms of the various candidates are published in Techno News. The flag-waving, poster-placing part of the campaign will not begin until the following Monday, however. The election, to be held May 13 and 14, will name the new ITSA president, treasurer, and secretary, Illinois Tech Women's Association officers, and class officers. Each class will elect a president, vice-president, treasurer, and secretary, and each semester will elect its own social chairman.

The Dean of Students' office was aware of only one candidate each for the offices of ITSA president and secretary at this writing.

It's what's up front that counts

You can reproduce the experiment. It's easy as ABC. (Yes, you can do it in the bathtub.) Assuming that you have first visited your friendly tobacconist, simply light your first Winston and smoke it. Reversing backwards, the discovery proceeds as follows: first, you will notice a delightful flavor, in the class of fresh coffee or bread baking. Obviously, such flavor cannot come from the filter. Therefore, it's what's up front that counts: Winston's Filter-Blend. The tobaccos are selected for flavor and mildness, then specially processed for after-baking. This extra step is the real difference between Winston and all other filter cigarettes. Besides, it's why Winston is America's best-selling filter cigarette.

Phi Kappa Sigma Makes Move To New House; First in Fraternity Quadrangle

Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity moved into their new fraternity house Monday and Tuesday of this week. The house, a three-story building with an English basement, is designed to be occupied by approximately 70 to 75 percent.

Ground was broken for the house June 9, 1958. The fraternity had planned to move into the new location as early as last January, but due to construction difficultes, the move was postponed. The "Shell House," as it is commonly called, was completed and ready for occupancy last Monday.

Two-man study rooms are the general rule in the house, with two five-man and two three-man rooms. The men will sleep in dormitories separate from their study rooms.

The first floor is composed of a large living room, library, and TV room. The dining room, meeting hall, and lounge comprise the English basement.

The building is the first of the proposed fraternity quadrangle, bound by Michigan, Wabash, Thirty-fourth Street and the three dormitories.

Committee Hears Student Criticism

Investigation of students' criticism of instructors, classrooms, procedures, and student activities is the purpose of the newly organized Student Investigating Committee.

Chairman Phil Kurth said that the committee, which was created at the beginning of the semester, will be functioning soon. He is planning to place complaint forms and a form receptacle in the Student Union.

A faculty criticism or complaint will be forwarded to an ITSA divisional representative who will verify it. He then informs the instructor involved and offers any suggestions that may be helpful. If no satisfactory results are obtained, the difficulty will be brought to the appropriate department head.

Suggestion pertaining to student government, activities or publications will be reviewed by the SC chairman and referred to the concerned body. If the situation is not resolved, the problem will be brought before the ITSA Board of Control.

Dorms Plan Semester's Last Social Gatherings

Farr Hall is readying itself for its semesterly beach party next Friday evening. Under the direction of Social Chairman D. Alejandro, refreshments will be hot-dogs and pop, recreation and a bonfire on the beach will follow. Girls will be invited from several hospitals.

Next weekend will also feature Fowler's "Burn Dance" on Saturday evening at 7:30. Square dancing is planned for part of the evening, and the area will be informal, with blue jeans or khakis being worn.

Students Discuss Plans

Last Monday evening, interested residents from Fowler and Farr Halls met with Dean Brown and Mr. Capato to examine and discuss the blueprints and plans for the new dorms. At this meeting, many of the current questions about the dorms and their use were brought up, discussed, and answered as best they could be at this time.

Because this will be the last semester that IT students will live in Farr Hall, the men of Farr are preparing a Farewell Dance in one week as a group farewell to the old hall. Everyone is invited, and this dance should be a good party to the semester and period to finals.

Murphy Reviews Activity Books, Honor System from Architects' Point of View

Tom Murphy, Arch-3D representative, stated in a recent interview that he would like to see the Student Union honor roll expanded to include more activities. He suggested that the board have closer contact with the architects, since the students do not regard themselves as an integral part of the Illinois Tech Student Association.

Also, the Architecture Society is not in favor of the architectural activities featured in the books, commenting that the students that are represented are not in favor of such books.

Too Many Activities?

"Such a book may tend to include too many activities which students would be unable to attend even if they had paid for them in advance," he mentioned. "From the viewpoint of the architects, such a book would be unnecessary since it will be used in Crown Hall on various problems and would therefore find it impossible to attend all the events included in the book." Tom suggested a voluntary society of architects for events such as the jazz concerts sponsored by SUB.

Review of New Requirements

Speaking as chairman of the committee reviewing the new system of the Arts and Architecture yearbook, he stated that an effort will be made to place more emphasis on scholarship when considering candidates for the book.

When asked about the possibility of having an honor system at Tech, Tom said that he was in favor of it and doubted whether such a system would work. "Such a system is already in effect in a great degree in the departments of Architecture, Technology, and Design. Since the work is based on originality it does not benefit one to copy.

Test Your Skill

It is always rather interesting to prepare for your examinations. In your study you naturally select the material which the lecturer has emphasized during the course and to you seems most important. On the examination, however, this material turns out to be trivial. The most important part of the exam is the final word on page 69 of the text. Below is a typical test, one covering your general background knowledge of Tech and of the world. If you past the test, you have obviously received outside help and are in danger of violation of the honor code—you must think to feel secure.
