The ARMOUR TECH ATHLETIC ASSN.

BY A. H. RYCH

The ARMOUR TECH athletic activities are very well organized and the managers are very enthusiastic about them. Each year, the athletic department of the university is confronted with the problem of selecting the most promising candidates for the various sports teams—football, basketball, and track. The decision is not an easy one, and many factors are considered in the selection process, including the athlete's physical abilities, skill level, and potential for improving. The athletic department is responsible for ensuring that the selected athletes are able to compete at the highest level and that the team spirit is maintained. The ARMOUR TECH athletic activities are an important part of the university's overall mission, as they provide opportunities for students to develop their physical abilities, teamwork, and leadership skills, and to compete at a high level.
Oster, Victim Of Hemorrhage, Now Home Recovering

Sunday, January 30, Frank Oster, our custodian of facilities, was taken to Heart Hospital, a victim of sudden hemorrhage, and in all of a surprisingly short time. By Wednesday afternoon, however, he seemed to be doing well enough to resume his duties.

Mr. Oster will be remembered as the oldest member of the flower crew, having joined the institution in July, 1920, when the University was founded. Throughout his years, he was a favorite among students. His contributions were such that he had established a reputation with hundreds of others who had had the fortune of visiting Heart and American and the associated hospitals. Since that day Frank has made himself an indispensible part of the medical center's day-to-day operations, both in the hospital and in the school. It is said that he has been a constant force in the hospital's history and is loved to its core. The experience and knowledge he has brought to the hospital have been invaluable.
