ARREST THREE AT CHAPEL

by Danuszko & Nibett

Three persons were arrested by IIT Campus Police Wednesday afternoon in the latest skirmish in the quarrel between the campus food co-op (Community Thrift Merchandising Club) and the IIT administration. The three CTMC members, Jan Hiland and Ulrike Erwin and United Campus Ministry staff member Howard Horvath, were arrested when they attempted to use the step of the Chapel for distribution of food.

The St. Savior Chapel has been locked since October 29 when the administration ordered it closed. The Chapel closing was precipitated by the administration's refusal to allow the food co-op use of the building for food distribution. The Chapel will remain locked until the administration has assured that it would not be used by the co-op, the administration has said.

Rumors of the threat of arrests, should the co-op again attempt to distribute its collectively-purchased food on the Chapel steps, had been circulating for days. The three had prepared for arrest despite their opinion that the administration would not issue the orders for an arrest.

"Excuse me, these are mine!"

Three co-op autos departed from nearby St. James Church after receiving the crated fruits and vegetables from the delivery truck. The car which parked on Michigan Ave. and the one parked behind Carmen Hall were quickly unloaded by student volunteers without apprehension by the Campus Police. They placed the foodstuffs on the Chapel steps.

The third car, driven by Horvath, parked next to the Commons. Horvath carted a crate of tomatoes about fifty feet before being spotted and stopped by Office Varkalis. After being informed that he would be arrested if he proceeded further toward the Chapel, Horvath took a single step and allowed himself to be arrested.

Amidst the crowd which had formed around the abandoned crate, Ulrike Erwin suddenly appeared, bumping aside Varkalis and saying: "Excuse me, these are my groceries; I paid for these." She grabbed the disputed crate and turned rapidly toward the Chapel.

Varkalis asked, "Are you taking this to the Chapel, Ma'am?" Responding positively, Ulrike was told that she would be arrested unless she stopped. She merely continued toting the crate, however, as Varkalis hesitated, looking to James Clark, head of Campus Police, for directions. Clark ordered; "Go and make the arrest."

The officers and crowd of observers trailed smiling Ulrike to the front of the Chapel, where Clark took command of the situation. After some discussion of Clark’s authority, ownership of the food, and the charges to be placed, Ulrike and Jan Hiland were formally arrested.

Clark then addressed the crowd: "I am asking you to go back to your apartments, to your rooms, wherever you want to go. But you must leave this area." The food was returned to the (Continued on page 3)
EDITORIAL — The Point of No Return

In a matter of a few minutes, the “gap” which separated the food co-op from the administration grew from a small ditch to an almost unbridgeable chasm. With the arrest of three of the co-op people, it appears that a peaceful settlement of this thorny problem is nearly impossible. To say that we have reached an impasse is, by now, an understatement.

Since I am not a lawyer, it would be both foolish and senseless to offer an opinion on which party is legally “in the right.” I must leave that decision to the courts.

I can, however, attempt to make some kind of moral judgement on the matter, as a third disinterested party. I will do this because it is traditionally expected of the IIC to take some stand on important issues, but only with a good deal of regret, because no one person’s opinion is infallible: each individual should and must make up his own mind in the end.

With that warning in mind, let me say that in this matter, I believe the administration has overstated the bounds of reason by the arrests. The co-op felt (and I am inclined to agree with them) that the administration demanded too many restrictions not asked of other groups on campus and was not being reasonable. A hard-line attitude in certain cases may be the best way to handle a situation, but here I feel it was self-defeating.

Again, this second-guessing will not restore peace. More importantly, I would like to suggest a way to help solve this problem: if possible, the administration should drop the charges against the co-op workers; in return, the co-op will send a committee to meet with both the administration and Bishop Montgomery and agree to whatever terms the three parties can develop at that meeting. Only in this way can the “chasm” close. Nakhe? Perhaps? Impossible? I really don’t think so.

Letters: Dorm Pledge Problem Resolved

Dear IIC:

The Fraternities and the Administration have arrived at a final settlement in regard to freshmen pledging. Fraternities and the status of their dorm contracts. 85 freshmen pledges were assigned to fraternities and conditionally released from their dorm contracts for the entire year, the condition being that if they move out of a fraternity house they must move into the dormitory. An additional 38 freshmen pledges remain assigned to dormitory rooms but were conditionally released from dormitory room and board contracts for the second semester.

For the first group, this means that their entire room and board will be paid for their respective fraternity; for the second group, they will pay the school for their room at the dormitory rates for the first semester and the fraternity for their board. While this amount to a subsidy to the Institute for room charges for 85 freshmen, it must be remembered that it is only for one semester and that the Institute is incurring these vacancies without subsidy for the second semester.

We are all aware of the decrease in enrollment which has resulted in a decrease in the demand for campus housing. This being the situation, the Alumni IFC began discussing this problem with the Administration last Spring. Our discussions were initially held with Mr. Tracht, Vice President and Treasurer, and it was soon evident that the problem was a mutual one, and one which would have to be solved with the cooperation of both the Administration and the Fraternities. During these discussions, the fraternities’ interests were represented by the Alumni IFC and it was on this basis that the final agreement was reached. As a result of our meetings, the Institute decided to close Farr Hall with a capacity of 105, even though it could have been filled, and agreed to release the 123 freshmen to the fraternities, as per above.

After having reached this agreement with the Administration we then worked out the details among ourselves. The mutual interests in maintaining a strong fraternity system at IIT carried on into these discussions and were the basis for the final distribution of the 38. The chapters with a higher occupancy figure carried the load. It is financially easier for a chapter with 45 housemen to subsidize a room fee for one semester than a chapter that has only 25 housemen.

The entire row is to be congratulated on the rush program this fall and it would be unfortunate if some felt that their efforts in achieving a large pledge class were being penalized in some indirect way. The strength of an individual chapter is based on its ability to perpetuate its spirit, ideals and goals with the addition of new members each year. But we should keep in mind that each chapter is a little stronger because it is operating within a strong system.

We all tend to do things a little differently — thus maintaining our individuality. But when a common problem arises, cars (and later distributed at St. James), and the crowd dispersed.

The arrested trio was detained at Campus Police Headquarters located in Machinery Hall for approximately thirty minutes. A complaint was filed with the Chicago Police Department, to whom the prisoners were transferred.
The ladies were transported in the back of a Chicago Police paddy wagon to the Women's Detention Center at State and 11th. Horvath was shaffuered to the 21st District Police Station in a squad car.
All three were booked on charges of disorderly conduct — failure to obey the lawful order of a peace officer — and were released on $25 bond each. Their cases will come up on November 29.
..‘Commitment to this Cause’
The direct impact of the arrests upon the controversy between the food co-op and the administration over the legality of the collective on campus, and also the administration and the United Campus Ministry over the use of the Chapel, is open to speculation.
However, it is apparent that both the administration and the co-op are remaining firm in their stands. The administration has illustrated its resolution to prohibit distribution by the food co-op anywhere on campus, resorting to arrests in order to enforce its decision.
The co-op continues to assert its right to distribute its collectively-purchased food without interference by the Institute. “The fact that these people are willing to undergo arrest demonstrates their commitment to this cause,” stated John Houck, UCM chaplain.
The action represents an escalation of the conflict and is expected to have some emotional consequences on those involved as well as other groups on cam-we are willing to work together with a oneness of purpose toward an equitable solution for all. And, in doing so, demonstrating the fact that we are committed to the idea that Fraternities benefit both the individual and the Institute.

The cooperation of all parties who participated in bringing about the above arrangement is acknowledged. I'd like also to extend our appreciation to the individual chapters for their patience during these negotiations and their help in compiling the necessary data on housing occupancy.

Plans for Skating Rink Approved

It finally appears that an official ice skating rink will be constructed on campus this winter. The administration, at a luncheon meeting with several representatives of ATS, has given its approval for a skating rink to be built on the open field just west of the Women's Residence Hall.

All precautions are being taken to make sure that the rink will be constructed properly, and the Institute will pay for the building expenses.

The border for the rink is already set up; in the meantime, the Office of the Dean of Students is preparing a small list of regulations concerning its use and the hours during which the rink will be open, which will go into effect as soon as the temperature permits flooding and freezing.

Aspiring campus politicians should know that the deadline for obtaining nominating petitions from the Dean of Students’ Office for this Fall’s ATS elections is November 22nd. The positions of Freshman, Junior, and Graduate Class Representatives, ATS Secretary, and ATS Assistant-Treasurer are to be filled in this election. So far the candidates for Freshman Class Representative are Alan Brodecki, Kimberly Kosak, Keith Selt, and Neil Silverstein. If candidates have any questions regarding any facet of the election, they should call the Elections Commissioner, Ed Bubuy at RE 7-5168.

The elections are set for November 30th and December 1st, a Tuesday and a Wednesday. On Tuesday, polling places in the HUB NE corner, McCormick Lounge, and (tentatively) Pi Kappa Phi Frat House will be open from 11 AM to 2 pm. On Wednesday, the HUB poll will be open from 10 am to 2 pm, McCormick Lounge from 10 am to 2 pm and 4:30 pm to 6:30 pm, and PKP House from 10 am to 4 pm. To vote in the election, students must show their student ID.

All ATS elections use a preferential voting system. In this system, the voter places a 1 by the candidate of his choice. No more than 3 preferences may be indicated.

Election addendum: a constitutional referendum will be voted on during the coming elections. The purpose is to abolish the current voter card system; to do this, certain phrases have to be removed from the constitution. A two thirds majority of ‘yes’ votes will ratify the change. The preferential voting system used in ATS Executive Council elections has been modified; in voting, you select anywhere from one to three choices (1 for first, etc.), and no more than three.

The ATS Space Allocations Committee met on November 11 to rearrange student organization office space. The committee, consisting of three ATS members, the HUB director, three members of Union Board, and a representative from the Dean of Students’ Office, faced an unusually strong dispute over the old Integral offices.

Integral made a bid to regain its old offices, which were given to WIIT after Integral folded last year. WIIT fought to retain the space, which it was using for an engineering room and workshop. The Committee talked and a compromise was finally reached, whereby Integral (Continued on page 9)

You worked hard for that new car of yours. Now all you have to do is take care of it. Part of it's using the right gasoline. Amoco. The type most new car owner manuals recommend.

Amoco is specially formulated for your new car's anti-pollution engine. Made to help it run better, longer. And Amoco can double the life of your tail pipe and muffler compared to fully leaded gasolines; spark plugs last longer, too.

That's why more new car buyers use Standard gasolines than any other brand. When it comes to high-quality gasolines, you can depend on Amoco and the other gasolines at Standard. All the time.

So now that you've got that new car, use the gasoline you can count on.

will receive about a third of the space, partitioned off from the rest, which WIIT will keep.

The new Commuter's and Townsmen's Association were given ATS old offices; ATS moves to the space formerly held by College Republicans and the India Association. Newman Club, BSO, Technology News, and Union Board will keep their present offices.

Despite opposition from the management of WIIT, the ATS Assembly voted Tuesday to confirm the nomination of Jerry Prochaska as the IDC representative on the new Communications Board. The Assembly split 5-4. Chuck Haas, ATS Vice-President, presiding as chairman in the absence of John Schuch, cast the tie-breaking vote. Immediately after the decision, the WIIT management representatives left the meeting, terming the decision "the worst possible."

The vote came after rounds of bitter personal accusation and rebuttal between WIIT and Prochaska. The dispute centered around the departure of Prochaska from his post as Programming Director at the beginning of the semester. His qualifications and ideas for CB were passed over in the personality fight. The CB is expected to go into effect this week.

In other actions, the Assembly joined the Faculty Senate in forming an independent investigatory committee to explore the current Chapel dispute. The Assembly also designated Rev. Houck, Campus Chaplain, as the official ATS Chaplain.

Chuck Haas reported to the Assembly that the 1971-72 Student Directory is going to the printer's within the next week, and should be expected sometime in early December.
Honor Fraternities Sponsor Tutorial Service

Indian Film Fest Helps Out CARE

In Chicago, the Federation of India Student Associations (FISA) recently organized a 'Festival of Indian Cinema' in aid of East Pakistani refugees in India. The month-long festival featured many outstanding Indian films like Charulata (Bengali), Anupama (Hindi), Aparajito (Bengali), Sahib Bibi Aur Ghulam (Hindi), Maiavan (Bengali), Ankhi Khut (Hindi), Bandini (Hindi), Sardula (Hindi), and Munnab (Hindi). The films were screened at the Illinois Institute of Technology with the assistance of the India Association IIT.

The proceeds of the festival were donated to CARE, the international relief agency for emergency relief operations in India. The photograph, taken when a check for $3,000.00 was presented to CARE, shows (from left to right) Manu Vora (FISA), Madhavan Nayar (FISA), Tom Murry (CARE), Satish Agarwal (FISA), and Krishnamachari (India Association IIT).

Other organizations interested in sponsoring similar festivals for raising funds for the refugees may contact for information and assistance Satish Agarwal, phone (312) 326-3511 or FISA, P.O. Box 1921, Chicago, Illinois 60680.

Competition starts Nov. 30. The IIT Hockey Club went down to its first defeat last Saturday, when they were clubbed 9-4 by Loyola. The Club, a wholly-student-run venture now has a record of 1-1 ...
Tech Swimmers Will Make a Big Splash

by Harvey Schultz

After a year's sabbatical, the IIT swimming team is ready to rise from the depths to give IIT a winner in the aquatic intercollegiate sports. And there can be no better man to take over the reclamations job than Denny Matuch, more familiar to all of you as PE swimming instructor. Matuch has been working his charges hard in preparation for the season opener Dec. 2 at Eureka College. Matuch believes this team to be a pretty fair aggregation, and here is a look at the men making up the Techhawk squad:

Steve Conover (Sr.) — Fine sprint freestyler when he's right; should help to push and teach freshmen on team.

Rich Godfrey (Sr.) — Should be one of the two top freestyle sprinters on the team if he concentrates and works.

Bill Griffith (Fr.) — Can be an all-around competitor and gap filler, with a little more drive behind him.

Paul Hanson (Soph.) — Will probably be the team mainstay in the 100 and 200 yard breaststroke events. Has shown a lot of promise.

Yonekazu Horita (Fr.) — Probably the top intermediate swimmer. Has lots of talent in all of the competitive stroke events. Should be a top point-getter.

Richard Jakot (Fr.) — Can be the club's top distance freestyler and an extra bonus in the diving event, a week spot on most Techhawm swimming teams.

Steven Murray (Fr.) — Great swimmer expected from this accomplished breaststroke and intermediate competitor, with possibly a few pool and team records to boot.

Bill Seniuk (Fr.) — With some good hard work, will be the team's starting freestyler in 50 and 100 yd. distances, and a record breaker in coming seasons.

Gary Soderlund (Fr.) — Should give Murray a run for top backstroker position on the team. Has already done times faster than IIT varsity record. He's very strong and a serious competitor.

Roman Szceziak (Fr.) — Good distance butterfly man who enjoys his stroke and likes to work. He will give a weak 200 fly event a real boost.

Mike Taborlou (Fr.) — Shows ability in all strokes. Will definitely be a help in the breaststroke events.

Jack Toren (Jr.) — Good all-around swimmer, but could be edged out of his favorite event, 200 yard backstroke, by younger members of the team.

Gary Vajda (Soph.) — Not much experience, but shows signs of being a good distance freestyler, in the 500 and 1000 yard distances.

Larry Wilsak (Fr.) — Inexperienced breaststroker who shows a lot of promise in workouts. Could be a regular in the 200 yd. breaststroke.

In general, the team is well-balanced in the odd strokes, that is, the butterfly, backstroke, and breaststroke events, but in the freestyle events — distance and sprints — the team is lacking a certain amount of depth. In the diving, a sore spot for past Techhawm teams, the squad will probably have two capable freshmen to pull down points.

If the team stays together, Coach Matuch feels, it should be an undefeated aggregation in two or three years. For this year, it should take the young club a while to jell, but after that it could prove to be the most talented IIT squad in many years.

Back on land, the 1971-72 IIT wrestling team will feature an unusual amount of youth. Though this bodes well for the future, it makes handicapping this year's edition of the Techhawms a rather precarious business. Coach Tony Barbaro is sure of one thing, however; that his men will give 100% all the time.

Coach Barbaro is an exceptional handler and developer of young wrestlers. He has a tough job on his hands this year, but he feels confident that the team will be representative. The Techhawms have to fill holes in the following weights: 118, 130, 142, and heavyweight. Coach Barbaro has a few "comers" in these areas, but only time will tell. The nucleus of the club will be the veterans, Jim Brod, Ken Anderson, Jon DeGraff, Ken Croce, and Jim Helmstetter, all of whom performed with distinction last year.

The others, who will try to give the Hawks depth, from lower weights up, are: Alvin Aki, Frank Spatafora, Ed Chan, Mark Johnson, George Zurovski, John Panganio, Randy Stange, and Howard Garrison.

It will probably take a while for the newcomers to jell into the usual solid Techhawm team that Coach Barbaro pilots. But once they do, they will be tough. And, as a final warning to Techhawm opponents, Coach Barbaro says, "We will be ready."

The Big Scarlet Machine is the IIT Techhawm basketball team, and coaches Tony Delgado and Rich Swanson had their first look at the Hawks in competition Nov. 9, when IIT hosted St. Xavier for a scrimmage. The coaches pronounced the match a success.

The first half of the game was all IIT, as the Hawks rebounded well, played fine defense, and had an acceptable offense. But in the second half, the Techhawms' production dropped. Reason? They weren't in condition. But this is to be expected, as this was the first scrimmage, and to have the team in tip-top shape that early would make for a state ball club come the season opener.

Besides the conditioning, the team must work on its offense. At times during the St. Xavier game, the Techhawms looked like they were trying to emulate last year's run-and-gun club. This is not what Coach Delgado is looking for. He wants discipline in the offense. His hopes are for a cohesive, rather than helter-skelter, attacking unit, which looks for the open shot.

So the Techhawms will be working hard on offense. If they can get it working, it will give the Big Scarlet Machine a powerful Offenhauser to motor it. The whole thing is a matter of work, and the subsequent 2 weeks till the opener will be chock full of work to polish the team.

The Techhawms will play a pressure man-to-man defense, to go along with their controlled, single post offense. Nuances will be installed, such as special plays, options off the offense, out-of-bounds and center jump plays. If this is all digested by Dec. 4, it should be a pretty snazzy-looking team wearing the Scarlet and Grey on the floor.

The IIT bowling team came back from 3 games down and made it close, but they fell before UIIC's keglers, 7 points to 4. The match, at Circle campus on Nov. 7, found the Chikas capture the first 3 games, and, for all practical (Continued on page 11)
