Mysterious Theft at Bookstore

by Nick Miller

Nearly $3000 in merchandise was recently stolen from the IIT Bookstore. The theft occurred on March 31st, 1973, and involved the theft of several books and electronic calculators. The loss was estimated at around $3000 and was discovered by the bookstore manager, Mr. Paul Fox, on April 1st.

The missing merchandise included several electronic calculators and books. The theft occurred around 10:00 pm, and the store was closed at 10:30 pm. The loss was confirmed by the bookstore manager, who reported the incident to the police.

The investigation is ongoing, and the police are currently working to determine the exact circumstances of the theft. In the meantime, the bookstore has stepped up security measures to prevent further losses.

IIT To Host Campbell Science Fiction Awards

IIT will host the first annual John W. Campbell Memorial Award competition on April 6th in the HUB. The award recognizes the three best science fiction novels written last year in the U.S. and the rest of the world. The awards will be presented at a ceremony at 8:00 pm.

Campbell was an influential science fiction writer, known for his work in the 1950s and 1960s. The award is intended to honor his legacy and recognize the best works in the field.

The competition is open to all science fiction fans, and the winners will be announced at the ceremony. The prizes include $1000 for first place, $500 for second place, and $250 for third place.

IIT Secretary Shaken

by Harry Schultz

Secretaries Linda Schultz and Carol Ford were shaken last Friday when the police arrived to investigate a break-in. The two secretaries were in their office when they heard a noise coming from the nearby HUB. They opened the window and saw a man trying to break into the office. He was carrying a crowbar and was attempting to force the door open.

The intruder was caught red-handed by the police and is currently in custody. He is believed to be a local acquaintance of one of the secretaries. The incident is under investigation, and the police are working to determine the motive behind the break-in.

IIT bookstore...
Students Eat at V-P Luncheon

Dr. Brebby indicated that the age barrier was set not what was keeping IF from establishing such a facility on campus. The problem, according to Dr. Brebby, is that there is currently an Illinois law that forbids the establishment of any such facility within a certain distance of any college campus.

ATS Conference Apr. 24-26

The annual ATS Spring Conference has been tentatively scheduled for April 24, 25, and 26. This represents a significant departure from the prior weekend format and is an attempt at attracting more participants from outside faculty and administration staff. The conference is currently being planned by a committee consisting of Dr. St. John, Dr. Brebby, and Dr. Vitto, and any input from students and faculty is welcomed.

Placement

The following companies will be on campus this week and are interested in speaking with students.

- March 26: Chubb & Sons
- March 27: E.C. Driver Construction
- March 28: Johnson Service Co
- March 29: IBM (Marketing)

Information on these companies is available from the Career Services Office at 725-349-5126, or on the internet at 725-349-5128.

NE officers in the Navy, Women and Gay NMI program.

Walter Matthau

Jack Lemmon

Mar. 24 8PM KUKU 75c
More on the Student Police

Students Needed for Committees

ATHS and the Dean of Students are presently recruiting members to serve on Institute Committees for the 1973-74 academic year. Although all students are invited to join these committees, they are appointed by the faculty and those having administrative responsibilities in the school.

The committees involved are Admissions and Scholarship, Academic Affairs, Student Affairs, Faculty Development, General Education, Library, and Budget Control. Each committee has a chairperson, and various subcommittees are chaired by faculty members.

Students interested in serving on any of these committees should contact the chairperson of the specific committee they wish to join.

The Student Police Force

The student police force is in the training period, and according to Chief Clark, "The force is almost ready for the main campus." The police force will consist of a uniformed force in the future and a non-uniformed force as well. The force will be responsible for maintaining order on campus and providing security.

The Daily Illinois student newspaper of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, has recently received a front-page story about a study conducted by the student police force.

The study was conducted to determine the extent of alcohol consumption on campus. The results of the study revealed that the majority of students consume alcohol responsibly.

The latest study, conducted by the student police force, found that the majority of students drink responsibly, and that the overall consumption of alcohol on campus is not excessive.

Drinks in Dorms

According to Chief Clark, "The student police force will ensure that all residents adherence to the rules regarding alcohol consumption in dorms."

Imposter

A student at the Illinois Institute of Technology was duped by an Imposter on campus.

The Imposter called the student's cell phone and pretended to be a student from another university, requesting assistance with a financial transaction. The student, who was duped by the Imposter, later realized the mistake and reported the incident to the police.

Abortion

ABORTION

ABORTION INFORMATION

An abortion can be arranged within 21 hours and you can return home the same day you arrived.

CALL TOLL FREE

(800) 523-4436

A Non-Profit Organization

Open 7 days a week

Muckraking

The Daily Illinois student newspaper of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, has recently received a front-page story about a study conducted by the student police force.

The study was conducted to determine the extent of alcohol consumption on campus. The results of the study revealed that the majority of students consume alcohol responsibly.

The latest study, conducted by the student police force, found that the majority of students drink responsibly, and that the overall consumption of alcohol on campus is not excessive.

Drinks in Dorms

According to Chief Clark, "The student police force will ensure that all residents adherence to the rules regarding alcohol consumption in dorms."

Imposter

A student at the Illinois Institute of Technology was duped by an Imposter on campus.

The Imposter called the student's cell phone and pretended to be a student from another university, requesting assistance with a financial transaction. The student, who was duped by the Imposter, later realized the mistake and reported the incident to the police.

Abortion

ABORTION INFORMATION

An abortion can be arranged within 21 hours and you can return home the same day you arrived.

CALL TOLL FREE

(800) 523-4436

A Non-Profit Organization

Open 7 days a week
March 23, 1973

Renoir: Vision and Variety

By John Cameron

Standing in the first room of the Renoir exhibit at the Art Institute of Chicago, one feels the viewer's unique situation. To one side is Renoir's "Mother Anthein's Cabaret" and to the other his "Bar at the Folies-Bergere," two masterpieces representing the beginning and the end of the painter's development. Although greatly diverse in technique, style, subject, both paintings are definitely the prototype of one single vision that is the unifying factor in a life that produced some 4,500 works of art in sixty years. A major sampling of this art and vision has been gathered at the Art Institute in what may well be the most comprehensive exhibit of the works of Pierre Auguste Renoir.

The art of Renoir, like that of all the Impressionists, is based on truth to the individual vision. He is not a technician or a painter of views at Montmartre, nor the delicate vision of Nature that Pissarro Ruther is, his a "dreamed" vision. It is, in fact, in the human figure, in the summer scenes, in the paintings of children and their mothers, and in all things natural and enjoyable in life that "sensuous" vision as Renoir called it as the guiding force behind the many different styles represented in this show. It was the subject of consistent re-expression and development until as a whole, Renoir could say, "I am beginning to understand what I mean by a Renoir style."

Renoir's styles are so varied that his work can only be divided into major groups. The first room of the exhibit is devoted to the second of these, the various influences upon his work that are most evident in his early work. The Japanese Courbet, Manet, and his fellow experimenter, Monet. The next two rooms present the "Impressionist" period works. These include several small scenes of the Seine in which Renoir, along side of Monet at Montmartre, first developed the technique of broken colour. This is the period when Renoir painted what are usually considered his most characteristic works, such as the scenes of Parisian nightclubs and many boating pictures. He had developed his impressionistic technique to such an extent that by 1879 he had achieved almost pure abstraction in works like "Landscape at Wargemont" and "The Wave." However, abstract art is an intellectual and not a sensualist interest, and Renoir rejected a further pursuit of this technique.

Instead, he started traveling to broaden his vision. In the fourth room of the exhibit hang several of the paintings done on his journey. Included are two magnificent views of Venice and the picture of a young Algerian. At a time when he was doubting the validity of his impressionist style, the influence of the southern climate the luminous masters was decisive. The classic tradition, which Renoir had studied in his early days, now seemed to open new possibilities in conveying his vision. The paintings in the fifth room illustrate the evolution of his "Impressionist" or "Verist" style. As he traveled, the dance scenes the contours become more sharply delineated and the volumes more important. Further development along these same lines can be seen in his portrait of his wife, and in his works which are a truly beautiful example of the classic style. The study for "The Bath" is the subject of this style.

In all these works the technique develops to fit the vision. Technical perfection of this style is achieved in "The Afternoon of the Children at Wargemont." However, here the technique seems to have superseded the vision in importance and the work as a whole falls short. Renoir himself recognized this and not long afterwards abandoned this style. He again refused to allow technique to conquer his sensualist vision.

Another contemporary factor affected his pursuit of his vision. That was his marriage and his family. From that time on, his works become increasingly domestic and woman-oriented in subject matter. This last thirty years of his life is very clearly referred to as his "red period," because of his style became leaner and his colours warmer.

Some particularly fine examples of this later period are found in the last three rooms. From the beautiful sublimation of "Claude and Renoir" and the portrait of the Thurtayyasa, to the brilliant harmonies of "The Concert," the full scope of Renoir's sensualist vision was never so well expressed. Perhaps no other has been more masterful in conveying the feeling or the mood of a moment than "The Bathers," which Renoir considered the culmination of his life's work. That is, at least, a highly generalized outline of how Renoir conveyed his personal vision at various times. It must be remembered that each painting is, to itself, an attempt to transmit this vision, and thus there is a wide divergence in styles and techniques. For Renoir, the vision itself was the only important guide for his art.

Renoir, in his way, is a whole, a subject of the art of a whole. He has been included in the list of Renoir's major masterpieces that makes and such individuals as not by a matter of opinion but by the very facts that prevented their being lost, will forever make any art which has on this scale impossible, and therefore make this one that much more important. The exhibit will run through April.
Ralph McTell?

Nobody has ever heard of Ralph McTell. Each week I go out on my way visiting record stores across the city in search of his latest album. Each week I get the same blank stares, the same questioning voice. Each week I find myself going home empty-handed.

Ralph McTell has been around since the mid-sixties playing beer halls and folk clubs across the country. He has a following in the coffeehouses of the late night clubs. He works with a small group, playing in his own style, which is a mixture of the American roots and the folk music of the British Isles.

He is known for his romantic and heartfelt songs. His music is often described as timeless, capturing the essence of the times in which it was written. He has been praised for his powerful voice and his ability to convey emotion through his music.

In his latest album, McTell explores themes of love, heartbreak, and relationships. His songs are filled with poetic language and a deep understanding of the human condition.

McTell's music has earned him a place in the pantheon of folk musicians, and his influence can be heard in the works of many modern artists. Despite his lack of fame, McTell continues to tour and write songs, sharing his unique vision with the world.
"A Doll's House" Well-acted

by Anthony Jasinski

Suppose that someone told you that Chicago has a play which takes a critical look at marriage and questions the traditional male and female roles in society. You would expect it to be a recent phenomenon, wouldn't you? After all, no one in Chicago's history has ever made much of a name for himself by tackling such a timely subject. This may be why the presentation of "A Doll's House" by the Chicago Repertory Players is such a surprise. The play, written by Henrik Ibsen in 1879, was first performed in Chicago in 1880, and has since been performed in numerous productions worldwide. The latest production, however, is the first in Chicago in many years, and it has been warmly received by audiences and critics alike.

The play centers around Nora Helmer, a woman who is married to Torvald Helmer. Nora is a woman who is defined by her husband, and her life is centered around him. She is a dutiful wife who is content to live in a world of her husband's making. However, when Torvald brings home a large sum of money, Nora is forced to reexamine her life and the role she plays in it.

The play is a critique of the traditional gender roles of the time, and it calls into question the idea that women should be subservient to men. Nora's transformation is a powerful one, and it is a testament to Ibsen's ability to write a compelling and thought-provoking play.

The production of "A Doll's House" by the Chicago Repertory Players is directed by John Garfield, and the cast includes some of Chicago's finest actors. The performances are excellent, and the overall production is a triumph of the theater arts.

This production of "A Doll's House" is not to be missed. It is a powerful and moving play, and it is a testament to the enduring power of Ibsen's work. So mark your calendars and come see this incredible production of "A Doll's House" at the Chicago Repertory Players. You will not be disappointed.
A Job For The "Eagle"

by James Young

Vellini (Don Sutherland), Iris (Jane Fonda), and "The Eagle" (Peter Boyle) are the three main characters who make Steelyard Blues one of the best factual movies to come out in a long time. "The Eagle" play Hanoi, Van Johnson, Marlon Brando from the Radio Force, and John Wayne (the one-man cavalry that saved the day).

I won't tell you the story, because I think you should see it yourself, but I will tell you about the characters. First, there's Vellini who has just been let out of prison. He'd been serving time for his second conviction of armed robbery. His brother is the local D.A. Vellini wants to go back to being a demolition derby driver, and he especially likes everyone else to just leave him alone.

The next person I'd like you to meet is Iris. She's a shrew, booker, and at the moment she's in bed with the fire commissioner, who makes when Vellini enters and attacks him with a rubber knife. She would like to hold a large extravagant client, and she would especially like the rest of the world to just leave her alone.

Now "The Eagle" is something else again. He's so mad that the rest of the world does leave him alone, and that suits him just fine.

"The Eagle" used to be a circus performer, but the circus isn't having freaks anymore! Iris is presently holding down a job as an amusement park worker, because you can go as fast as you like, you don't have to stop at the pace, and the driver gets to blow the sirens. Or as he put it, "This sounds like a job for The Eagle.

Put these three together, add an odd assortment of eddies strange characters: a pick-pocket, an ex-auto mechanic, a guitar-playing electronic who seems always to be leading a power-hungry amp, etc., and you have a WW II Mysteries from the mood.
ANNOUNCEMENTS

TAX REVOLT CONTINUES AS "ABORT THE REAL ESTATE TAX" - YES! will be the subject for study at the College of Commerce, 215 W. Madison Ave., Saturday, March 31st, at 9:00 p.m. This very timely topic will be presented by Attorney Arnie F. Gannam, Senior and State Coordinator of the Fair Tax Association. He will explain their plan to do away with the regressive state taxes and establish a fair tax base.

Sinners welcome Tuition $1.00 plus $1.00 minimum for vegetables and potatoes.

MORE CEREUS REPORT! Sunday on Stereo B's Superstar Showcase host "The Concert for Banga Jew" featuring George Harrerman, Bob Dylan, Barry Feinstein and others, followed by "Watt-tastic," with Peter Hayes, The Sapples Singers, The Bar Kays and many All-in-stereo acts Sunday at 9:00 WHTT, 6:00 A.M. & 6:00 P.M. stereo.

Stuart Student Association The Stuart Student Association will hold a general meeting for all students on Wednesday, March 20, at 12:15 noon. The meeting will be held in room 244, Stuart Building. All students are welcome to attend.

ITW Women's Club Scholarship Benefit Members of the ITW Women's Club will hold a German theme for the Club's 2nd Annual Scholarship benefit, to be held at the university Saturday, March 20. The event begins at 5:00 p.m. at Grover M. Harriman Hall. The Germanic Fest will feature German foods, music and entertainment. All students are welcome to attend.

APARTMENT FOR RENT

311 W. Madison Ave. $200 per month. Telephone 787-6151.

Just as last week, the Metals Club is offering $5 for the first correct guess as to the identity of an object pictured in a scanning electron micrograph to be published in Technology News. The club is also offering $5 for the most original wrong answer. Fill out the coupon below and deliver it (quickly) to the Metalurgical and Materials Engineering Department Office, Room 206, First Floor, University of Illinois.

NAME

ADDRESS

PHONE

FREE

Save 10° on 6 cans of soda or 48° on a larger with this coupon. This coupon good for 1 ITT students, staff and faculty. Other expires April 9. Fresh Pizza served anywhere you desire. No charge for a fra sauce.

RicoBene's Pizzeria

Phone 225-9811 Delivery with 2° Min. Here's the deal.

Take A Trip Back

Jenelle's Nickelodeon Tavern and Museum is sort of a penny arcade but serves alcoholic beverages. As you can guess, the pinball machine and other games are good for a good time. Jenelle's is so well equipped with two suppliers, you can't ask for more. Jenelle's has something for everyone. It's like being in a time machine, except for the fact that you can eat and drink as much as you want without having to pay. Jenelle's is located in the heart of the city, making it a perfect spot for a night out.
The Best Of Tech News

In our continuing series of articles from previous issues of the newspaper, we now present a reprint of a story that appeared on the March 1, 1968, issue, under the headline: "Rettalaia Made Dean of Engineering."

John T. Rettalaia, director of the department of mechanical engineering at JIT, will become dean of engineering next September 1. Prof. Henry T. Hurd announced yesterday.

In 1966 he was named to the subcommittee on national security established by the chairman of the committee on power plants for aircraft of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

Author of 15 publications and a number of papers on gas turbines and other technical subjects, he is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (chairman of the gas turbine division), American Society of Naval Engineers, Sigma Xi, Tau Beta Pi, Tau Sigma Honorary Engineering Society, and the International Gas Turbine Institute.

Rettalaia is married to the former Jeanette Asaro. They have three children: John, Mary Ann, and Thomas.

Hi, I'm Webster McGhee

by J.T.

Hello, Mr. Henderling, I'm the guy who robbed your house while you were out last Tuesday. Since I found some very interesting papers while I was stealing the family jewels, you're going to have to refund the cash and interest. I'm also asking for all your wealthy friends and provide me with the opportunity to rob them, too.

Hi, I'm Webster McGhee (Ryan O'Neal) and something like that to his first victim in The Thief Who Came to Dinner. You see, Webster had been a very boring computer operator until his wife decided to divorce him. Then he got fed up with everything and quit his job. He studied "drugs" and learned all the clever little things that every good rat hanger should know. So he made a new career for himself.

Well, Webster McGhee (Ryan O'Neal) and something like that to his first victim in The Thief Who Came to Dinner. You see, Webster had been a very boring computer operator until his wife decided to divorce him. Then he got fed up with everything and quit his job. He studied "drugs" and learned all the clever little things that every good rat hanger should know. So he made a new career for himself.

Continued from page 9

The author's latest story next Friday, when they take Benedectine. The go-fresman head coach, throwing into action亚太, the shippers from the new Illinois, Niles College, Bensenville.

Both teams look for ways to carry their fans in the tourney. The'stories have a fine edge by returning star Richard T. Carr and Pete Kuck by joining them by young stars, boosting the road of tennis round on forward outlook. Not installed last year, a practioner's time made a road trip dodging the thunders.

Convinced from page 9

Continued from page 9

Pills, Sandwiches, Beer

and a thrill of the moment delivery

Connie's Pizza Pub

Brings friends or family to the restaurant that has everything you want for an enjoyable evening.

Pills, Sandwiches, Beer

and a thrill of the moment delivery

Connie's Pizza Pub

Brings friends or family to the restaurant that has everything you want for an enjoyable evening.

Pills, Sandwiches, Beer

and a thrill of the moment delivery

Connie's Pizza Pub

Brings friends or family to the restaurant that has everything you want for an enjoyable evening.

Pills, Sandwiches, Beer

and a thrill of the moment delivery

Connie's Pizza Pub

Brings friends or family to the restaurant that has everything you want for an enjoyable evening.

Pills, Sandwiches, Beer

and a thrill of the moment delivery
Continued from page 9

nolet’s tennis team sees its first action next week, March 30, when the Nolet’s Illini (12-4) face the University of Wyoming at Illinois Wesleyan. The Illini are expected to win. The team’s schedule continues with a trip to Ames, Iowa, on April 4, and a trip to Elmhurst on April 6. The team is expected to win both matches.

Tennis, Golf

Continued from page 9

Coach Ault hopes this emphasis helps his team improve on its play of last year.

Tennis has high hopes for a strong season as well. Returning letterman from last year include Dick Douglass, Steve Balkow, and Terry Krycka. The tennis team is expected to win all its matches.

Home Opener Mar. 29

Continued from page 12

Coach Klein realizes he has to wait to see his players. Many of them have not practiced together before.

Puzzle No. 2

There are 12 capital towns in the world that begin with the capital letters of the world.

There is no capital town in the world that begins with the capital letters of the world.

The capital town of the world is this hidden word content.

You may be found forwards, backwards, vertically or diagonally. Also, ONE capital has the capital letters of the world.

When you've solved the word, bring the completed puzzle to the Tech News office. The first person to bring the puzzle here wins the Tech News staff members and the designer are not eligible.

Confident in his ability to see red, Mad Dog acquired a Vanity Fair diamond ring catalog. The entire football team helped him select an exquisite diamond engagement ring for Cynthia and a football-shaped diamond for you’re thinking, Mad Dog managed to afford the ring on his scholarship money. However, when Mad Dog suggested that Vanity Fair diamonds were too cheap for him to purchase the ring, Mad Dog’s appreciation of Vanity Fair’s money back guarantee was in 30 days if the wedding ring was not fully satisfied.
Baseball! Hawks Open Season

by Harvey Schultz

Spring’s arrival heralds the return of birds, bees, baseball, and beer. Of immediate concern to the IIT bowling team is how they will do in their third match against the University of Illinois-Chicago and Michigan State. The Hawks hold a 2-1 lead over the U of I and a 1-1 tie with Michigan State. With two matches against each team, the Hawks will need win one.

Hawks Beat Booster's Bracket

The Hawks have been drawing well at the booster's bracket and have won two of the last three matches. The Hawks have a record of 2-1 and are in good position to make it to the round of 16.

Skahill Cage MVP

In a rather average year for IIT basketball, Skahill made 1973 a season to remember for the IIT basketball team. Skahill led the team in scoring and led the team in rebounds. His 1973 season was his best of college basketball, as he averaged 23.6 points per game. He also averaged 12 rebounds per game. Skahill led in many offensive categories and set records that will likely stand for many years.

Hawks Roast New Look

A new look IIT team will appear on the diamond for baseball season. The Hawks are led by Rick Klein, their first year at the helm of the team. Klein, a former IIT baseball player, is operations on a low-key level, in contrast to the fiery Tony Deiglo, last year's head coach. In Klein, the Hawks will look to for leadership and guidance.

SPORTS BRIEFS

MBARI-1 WINS IM CROWN

MBARI's won their 2nd straight IM crown with a final score of 43-1. MBARI's captain, Bob Brown, led the team with 14 points and 12 rebounds. The team's defense was strong, allowing only 12 points in the game.

75 PASS LIFEGUARD COURSE

The Lifeguard Training Center will be offering a 75-pass Lifeguard course beginning in the summer. The course will cover all the necessary skills and knowledge required to become a certified lifeguard. The course will be taught by experienced instructors and will be held at the center's pool and on-location at nearby beaches.

OFFER U CAN'T REFUSE

It's officially known that Technology News is accepting applications for the role of news editor. Interested candidates are encouraged to apply. Qualifications: Strong writing and reporting skills, experience in technology news, and the ability to work under pressure. Deadline: March 31st. Contact: info@technews.com.